FOUR BURNED — Four area men were burned in a fire which broke out at this house on Snow Hill Road, while they slept at 3:30 a.m. Sunday. The house was a total loss. Washington C. H. firemen, who blamed the fire on sparks from the fireplace which ignited a nearby chair, were on the scene for over two hours.

Home completely destroyed

Four hurt in rural blaze

Four area persons were injured during a fire at a Snow Hill Road residence southwest of Washington C.H. early Sunday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies said Jeffrey L. Pollock, 21, of 2618 Snow Hill Road, and William M. Smith, 21, of 2618 Snow Hill Road, tenants of the concrete block residence; Tim J. Murphy, 18, of Leesburg, and Richard L. Williams, 20, of 124 E. Paint St., were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns following the blaze which occurred at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS said Pollock and Smith were treated for burns of the face and hands and Williams was treated for burns of the hands and right forehead.

All were released following treatment. Murphy was not treated.

Washington C.H. Fire Department Lt. Richard Reed reported the fire was caused when sparks from the fireplace ignited a chair while the four men were sleeping.

Firemen, who were on the scene from 3:50 a.m. until 6:15 a.m. Sunday, extinguished the blaze with water.

The home, owned by Robert E. Lewis, CCC Highway-E, and valued at $10,000, was completely destroyed, firemen reported.

Two additional fires were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and Washington C.H. firemen extinguished an auto fire.

A car belonging to Norbert Kent, 920 Dayton Ave., caught fire when it backfired through the carburetor at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, in front of 302 E. Court St., Washington C.H. firemen reported.

They extinguished the fire by smothering it with a coat and then hosing down the engine with water. Damage was estimated at $25.

The Jeffersonville Fire Department responded to a furnace fire at the Royal Castle Restaurant at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35.

THE FIRE, which broke out at 3:49 a.m. Sunday, caused minor damage, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

The Bloomingburg Fire Department was summoned to the intersection of Midland Avenue and Wayne Street in Bloomingburg at 1:50 a.m. Sunday, when an electrical power line blew down.

Firemen and Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies kept traffic and people away from the live wire, until Dayton Power and Light Co. workers repaired the wire. There was no damage.

More tapes to be heard

John Dean returns to witness stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disconsolate President Nixon discussing options for "stonewalling" Watergate investigations was heard by the Watergate cover-up jury on tape today as John Dean was on the stand for the fourth day.

"It's a long road, isn't it, for all of us, for all of us," Nixon said at one point. "I mean, what the hell are you going to do?"

The discussion occurred on March 21, 1973 — on the afternoon of the day when Dean, the White House counsel, had laid out for the President the names of White House people who were vulnerable to indictment.

They discussed setting up a presidential panel to gather evidence or sending White House people to the grand jury under a grant of immunity so they could not be charged.

Two of the defendants in the trial, John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, participated in the afternoon discussion. Ehrlichman pressed the President to have Dean put on a report that Nixon then could send to the Senate investigation then under way.

Discussing that idea, Nixon says: "I ask for a written report ... which is very general, understand?"

"Understand," the President repeats and laughs, adding: "I don't want to get all that Goddamned specific. I'm thinking now in far more general terms ...

"If you make it quite general in terms of ... your investigation indicates that this man did not do it ... this man did do that."

Ehrlichman suggests that if that idea is adopted, "to give some weight to that, could you attach as an appendix a list of the FBI reports to which you had access ... so that the President at some later time is in a position to say 'I relied.'"

Ehrlichman said then that if there were further disclosures, Nixon would be in a stronger position to say that he justifiably relied on Dean's report.

A few days later, Dean went to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., but failed to write a report.

Instead, he later hired an attorney and began telling the Watergate story to federal prosecutors.

Nixon then appointed Ehrlichman to write the report. In a public statement

In Florida fishing mishap

Former resident believed drowned

BELLVIEW, Fla. — Paul Detty, 47, formerly of Washington C.H., is believed to have drowned Sunday afternoon while fishing in Lake Weir, south of Ocala, Fla., in Marion County.

Sheriff's deputies have been dragging the lake since the incident was reported, but as yet no body has been found. According to the Marion County Sheriff's Department, Detty had been fishing from a boat on the large inland lake which is about 10 miles south of his home in Bellview.

Since the matter is still under investigation, deputies were unable to release any details of the information they had. They said only that they had been contacted by a man who said Detty had fallen from the boat into the lake.

DETTY WAS born Aug. 2, 1927 in Chillicothe to the Rev. and Mrs. C.H. Detty, 426 Sixth St. The family moved to Washington C.H. a short time later, and Paul attended elementary school and high school here.

He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and accompanied Admiral Richard E. Byrd on the U.S.S. Bronson for the first voyage to the South Pole in 1946.

He received a medical discharge from the Navy and took up residence in New Jersey and Pennsylvania before returning to Washington C.H. some five years ago.

While in residing here, he was a member of the Washington C.H. Eagles Lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

He moved to Bellview, Fla., a year ago.

Ford takes Truman-like stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has been told by close associates that he sounds like a Harry S. Truman on the campaign trail. And if Ford hasn't given Democrats much hell yet, he's trying.

Facing heavy odds in attempting to resist an erosion of Republican strength in Congress, Ford is using more strident, more Truman-like rhetoric as the campaign progresses.

Apparently by design, Ford became increasingly partisan last week as he jetted into seven states on behalf of Republican candidates. The change in approach produced a presidential decision Saturday to abandon prepared texts and, as he put it, "talk heart-to-heart, straight-to-straight."

Ford seemingly wanted to say, "straight from the shoulder," but couldn't remember the cliche soon enough — one of the perils of impromptu speechmaking.

But without a text, Ford tends to toughen up his language as he makes his big pitch: Elect Republicans or a Democratic veto-proof Congress of big-spending budget-busters will produce a legislative dictatorship.

Here's a typical sample from a Saturday-night speech in Louisville, Ky.

"Let me put it just as bluntly as I can. If you get a veto-proof Congress, boy, tighten your seatbelts. You are going right through the roof of the United States Capitol as far as the federal treasury is concerned ... The keys to the treasury will be thrown away and the money will pour out unbelievably."

The results of Ford's campaigning to date have been mixed, although he told reporters Saturday, "I've really been encouraged ... I loved those crowds."

The President's audiences, even when sizeable, often have seemed more curious than enthusiastic. And sometimes they've been small. For example:

—No more than 4,000 turned out Saturday in a Louisville hall that seats 18,000, despite a telephone blitz and local radio advertising.

—Airport rallies at Lincoln, Neb., and Greensboro, N.C., drew barely 2,000 each and a fund-raising box luncheon at Greenville, S.C., attracted but 300, who sat surrounded by tiers of empty seats.

To balance off such disappointments, Ford can point to much bigger, noisier receptions in Sioux Falls, S.D., Indianapolis and Anderson, S.C.

Voter apathy in Watergate's wake may be the reason why Ford has yet to attract crowds as large and enthusiastic as those that customarily welcomed other presidents in recent decades.

Ford never professes to believe his efforts could do more than help cut Republican losses in the November balloting. But he has told reporters his personal involvement in the campaign is important, even if it presents risks for his presidential prestige.

"If I don't do anything and we lose," he asserted, "Republicans in the House would say, 'he didn't even try.'

"At least I tried, and if the results are better than the polls say ..."

He did not finish the sentence.

Weather watcher unprepared for county's early snowfall

No one was more surprised by Saturday's snowfall than Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer. Stookey had not yet even contemplated making the annual changeover to winter weather equipment.

He said he doesn't usually make the change until mid-November and wasn't prepared to measure snowfall.

Stookey does feel that his calculation of just under one-third of an inch of precipitation over the weekend is fairly accurate, and said that it was the earliest date that he recalls for measurable amounts of snow.

"SURE WE'VE had little flurries this early in the year, but not enough to accumulate — not an inch and a half," he said.

The three consecutive days of frost came as quite a surprise to him. A few hours in the morning is not to uncommon, but the extended time of such cold temperatures is very unusual, according to the local weather watcher.

On the brighter side, Stookey said that area residents can rejoice that the snow came early. "If it had been colder, say zero degrees, that amount of water would have produced about three inches of snow," he stated.

He explained that the snow was wet and packed down, if it had been colder, the snow would have been "very puffy and would have been twice as deep."

The wet condition of the snow did make some roads rather slippery and the Ohio Department of Transportation garage had three salt trucks in operation Saturday night.

Daylight Time ends Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten straight months of Daylight Saving Time will end Sunday when the nation goes on standard time for the four winter months.

The nation will set back its clocks one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, the result of congressional action that ended the nation's experiment with year-round daylight time.

Under the new legislation, the nation will stay on standard time until 2 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, 1975.

The year-round daylight time experiment was designed to save fuel during the country's energy shortage. The Senate Commerce Committee reported the experiment resulted in about 100,000 barrels of oil per day being saved during the first four months of 1974.

However, that committee said such savings "must be balanced against a majority of the public's distaste for the observance of Daylight Saving Time" during the winter.

The Department of Transportation agreed that some fuel was saved during the winter months but said longer daylight hours may have increased gasoline consumption in March and April by up to one per cent.

The change will not affect eastern Indiana, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa, all of which remained on standard time during the experiment.

Glenn blasts Perk 'lies'

By The Associated Press

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn has accused his Republican opponent, Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, of telling the "most scurrilous, malicious kind of lies" in a desperate attempt to bolster his campaign.

Glenn, in an interview Sunday, challenged Perk to prove his charges or "apologize to the people of Ohio for misleading them.

"That's a challenge he can't take up because he knows he can't prove any of the things he's putting out," Glenn said.

The former astronaut referred to a statement put out by Perk Saturday after warrants were issued for a former Glenn campaign aide on bad check charges.

Perk called the check case a "scandal" and charged Glenn with a "Watergate-type coverup." He claimed some of the bogus checks were "redeemed with Glenn campaign money in order to cover up these alleged criminal activities."

Glenn said Sunday the man named in the warrants, Louis Quintero, got no money from the Glenn campaign and contributed no money to it. He said his staff advised people who thought they were bilked out of money to report it to the police.

Perk claimed that Glenn learned of Quintero's activities in September, but didn't tell authorities.

Stephen J. Kovacik, Glenn's campaign manager, said Quintero volunteered his services in April, representing himself as a public relations consultant.

He said Quintero opened offices in Spanish speaking sections of Youngstown, Cleveland and Toledo, but his activities apparently ceased in the middle of August.

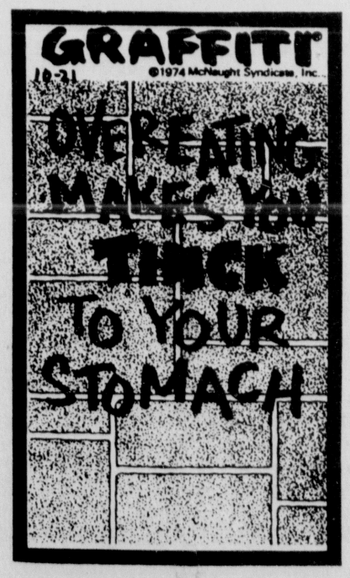
Kovacik said Quintero was told in a telegram from Glenn's staff Sept. 25 that he was "to have nothing more to do with the Glenn campaign."

Quintero reportedly is wanted in connection with the writing of bad checks totaling as much as $65,000, allegedly for repayment of loans he obtained in the name of the Democratic nominee.

In other political developments, the Columbus Dispatch reported Sunday the latest results of its voting machine poll show incumbent Democratic Gov. John Gilligan and his Republican challenger James Rhodes locked in a dead heat going into the final two weeks of the campaign.

Meanwhile, Rhodes said in campaign stops Sunday that thousands of Ohio school children must walk to school this winter rather than ride buses because of the administration's "adamant refusal to adequately fund Ohio's schools."

Rhodes also said a large number of school districts are operating on split session and at least seven districts are preparing to close for the same reason.



Special prosecutor's office quietly winding up affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — With attention focused on the Watergate cover-up trial, the special prosecutor's office is quietly winding up its business and preparing to close its doors next spring.

Additional charges probably will be brought, particularly for violations of campaign contribution laws, and there will be a final report, but the cover-up trial clearly represents the climax of the work of the unique office created to deal with the Watergate scandal.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski has submitted his resignation, effective Friday. In his letter to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, Jaworski said he felt the major work of his office had been completed.

In addition, sources within his office have indicated that most of the investigations under way are close to completion.

There had been some discussion within the prosecutor's office months ago about winding up everything but the campaign contribution law investigations.

The award of ambassadorships in return for large contributions, the possibility that Nixon fund raisers had used tactics that would be regarded as extortion, and still other corporate contributions were considered areas that might require another year of investigation.

But for reasons still not clear, the probes are being wound up much more quickly.

Since Archibald Cox built the staff in May 1973, the special prosecutors have brought charges against 44 individuals and 15 corporations.

The individuals include former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, men who wielded unequalled and unquestioned power during the first Nixon administration. All three are defendants in the cover-up case.

Ehrlichman already has been convicted of violating the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, a charge stemming from his supervision of the so-called White House plumbers unit.

Jaworski is leaving the prosecutor's office with his reputation enhanced.

Whether it remains unblemished will depend in part on the outcome of the cover-up trial and the final report his office is obligated to submit to the American people.

Jaworski already has said he could not include all his office learned about Nixon's Watergate role now that President Ford has barred bringing charges against the former President.

But he left one possibility open: he invited Congress to expand his mandate, to require that the final report include the full story of Watergate

Extortionist blasts 11 power towers

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — State, local and federal authorities have begun preparations to counter possible power blackouts in case an extortionist carries out his threat to dynamite more transmission line towers in the Portland area.

Bonneville Power Administration officials, area police and the FBI reviewed emergency plans Sunday after the power administration refused to pay a $1 million ransom demanded in an extortion letter.

Officials from area military installations and the Oregon National Guard were briefed on the situation.

Portland General Electric Co. and Pacific Power and Light, major city-based utilities, fired up reserve combustion-powered and steam plants to provide extra elctricity if needed.

City officials asked for approval to order overtime shifts for workers already converting a civil defense shelter into a communications center for emergency services.

"What we probably face is an outage where the entire area might be totally without power for a few hours up to a day or two," said power administrator Don Hodel.

Since Sept. 26, 11 transmission towers have been dynamited in the Portland area, eight of them within the past week. Three of the towers were toppled, with damage estimated at $250,000, and unexploded devices were found attached to several other towers.

The Bonneville Power Administration supplies electricity to all city utilities.

There are 750,000 residents in the Portland area. Hodel said if more transmission towers are damaged, emergency measures could be required that would result in blackouts that would last 16 hours a day until towers were repaired.

A letter addressed to the administration arrived at the Portland FBI office Friday. It demanded $1 million and was signed "J. Hawker," which authorities interpret as a variation of the term "Jayhawker" used to describe guerrillas and looters after the Civil War.

The letter said in part: "The extent of damages resulting from the demolition of five of your power line towers Wednesday night is incidental. Our intent is to either collect $1 million or to make you people wish to hell we had."

Hodel said he believed the only motive of the extortionist is money. "There are no political overtones to the letter," he said.

The extortionist set no deadline for complying with the demand but told the power administration to show it was ready to pay by placing classified ads in three newspapers, two of them in California.

Coverup trial

on April 17, Nixon said that in the March 21 conversation new facts were brought to his attention which prompted him to begin a new investigation.

The tape was introduced and played for the jury after Dean told of an unrecorded conversation with Haldeman and Ehrlichman outside of the President's office in which he said there were two alternatives.

"One was to let it go all the way, to let it unravel," Dean told the jury. "One was to draw wagons around the White House."

Questioned by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica about what that meant, Dean said it was "a sort of cowboy-and-Indian phrase — drawing the wagons around would be to protect everyone inside from the people on the outside."

He said Ehrlichman and Haldeman would be included among those who would be protected.

"Would Mitchell be inside the wagon?" asked prosecutor James F. Neal, referring to a third defendant in the trial, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

"No, sir," Dean said.

Later in the taped conversation, which lasted 41 minutes, Ehrlichman suggested that Mitchell "step out" and say that he had done some investigation at the re-election committee which he headed and found that some people had violated the law.

Rhodes wins Enquirer endorsement

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Former Gov. James A. Rhodes was endorsed for the Ohio gubernatorial race Sunday by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The newspaper, on its Sunday editorial page, said it backed Rhodes because of the achievements made in education and industrial development during his two terms.

The Enquirer said the Republican candidate, who is facing Democrat John J. Gilligan, "is more correctly attuned to Ohio's needs and its people's aspirations."

The endorsement contained praise for Gilligan's successes during the past four years, but credited Rhodes for major advances in a wide range of areas.

"Ohio blazed many trails during the Rhodes years—in historic preservation, in highway safety, in corrections and mental health, in industrial safety, in public works, in urban affairs," it said.

The editorial said Rhodes was responsible during his eight years as governor—from 1963 to 1971—for investing more state operating money in elementary and secondary education "than all the governors from 1915 to 1963."

Industrial development, the newspaper said, resulted in "Ohio leading the nation in the expansion of commercial and industrial facilities" and the attraction of $13 billion in new capital investment.

The editorial said the development program was responsible for providing 750,000 more jobs in the state during Rhodes' two terms.

Fights hit Boston school

BOSTON (AP) — Racial fighting broke out this morning inside a newly integrated high school in South Boston as city schools entered their sixth full week under a court-ordered busing plan.

Fistfights erupted during an assembly at the Hart-Dean School, an annex to formerly all-white South Boston High School, and several white pupils walked out of the building, a police spokesman said.

There were no arrests or injuries, the spokesman said.

Stock list takes dip

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices slipped marginally lower in slow trading today, as companies reported third-quarter earnings and several commercial banks announced cuts in their prime rates.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.56 at 653.32, recovering from earlier lows when the index was down almost 4 points.

Earnings reports for a number of companies fell short of year-earlier levels during the third quarter and indicated further softening of the economy, brokers said.

Still, they noted, investors were heartened by continued declines in short-term interest rates. Several large banks announced prime-rate cuts today to 11¼ per cent and 11½ per cent last week.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was off .08 at 68.09.

Declines edged advances 586 to 511 among 1,514 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, whose broad-based index sagged .09 to 37.99.

Transamerica Corp. topped the Big Board's volume list, steady at 5⅝.

Ford Motor, which disclosed various cost-cutting measures today, fell 1⅝ to 33¾.

Imperial Oil A was the most active Amex issue, down ⅛ at 27⅞.

Bids received for cruisers

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners received bids Monday morning for two sheriff cruisers, but chairman J. Herbert Perrill said final action may be delayed until a later date.

The action may be postponed due to unfinished business with the insurance company, according to Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson.

Other matters scheduled for the commissioners will be a discussion of the Rattlesnake watershed problems at a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday of the Rattlesnake Steering Committee, to be held in the Soil Conservation Services office.

Friday, the commissioners, along with Fayette County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will travel to Xenia for a joint session with the Greene County commissioners and the public for a final hearing on the Grassy Branch ditch, which has been continued several times.

President defends Rocky nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is standing by his nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller, declaring, "I'm still convinced he would make a good vice president."

Ford, fielding questions from five newsmen aboard Air Force One late Saturday, was asked whether any conservative Republicans had urged him to withdraw the increasingly controversial nomination.

"I wouldn't say anybody seriously," the President responded, implying that such advice had been received.

Standing in shirtsleeves in the aisle of the plane as it brought him home from a campaign trip to Louisville, Ky., Ford held what amounted to an informal news conference.

Ford said he expected Rockefeller's nomination to be confirmed before the President's planned trip to Japan next month. This would seem to be out of the question since Ford tentatively plans to leave the country Nov. 17 and Congress does not return from its election recess until the following day.

Meanwhile, Rockefeller was described by a prominent Senate Democrat as "a man who has great experience, tremendous ability."

The comment came from Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who said in an interview Sunday on the CBS program "Face the Nation" that he still planned to vote for Rockefeller's confirmation despite the recent financial disclosures.

Byrd said, however, that he was glad that the Senate would not be voting immediately on the nomination because "there are many questions that remain to be answered." He said the Rockefeller gifts and loans raise a more serious question than the back taxes.

In New York Sunday, Rockefeller said through spokesman Hugh Morrow that he gave Henry A. Kissinger $50,000 to enable Kissinger to join the Nixon administration as head of the National Security Council.

And, Rockefeller was quoted in an interview in Time magazine as saying that Kissinger was concerned about earning less in Washington than he had been, because "he had just got divorced and had responsibilities to his children and to his former wife.

"I urged him to take the job. He didn't want it. Okay, so I helped him out.

"He put the money in trust for his children. What's more human than that," Rockefeller said.

In the interview, Rockefeller described the gifts he gave to former associates and friends as "a great American tradition."

Morrow also said that a story in Newsweek magazine about Rockefeller backing a book called "Barry Goldwater: A Political Indictment" was "a complete phony."

He said Rockefeller had nothing to do with the book, written by a onetime Rockefeller campaign worker, Edward Paul Mattar III of Buffalo.

U.S. may provide grain to India under program

WASHINGTON (AP) — While cutting back grain sales to Russia, the United States soon may provide grain to India under a new Food for Peace agreement.

Andrew J. Mair, coordinator of Food for Peace in the State Department, said he is certain a grain agreement with India is coming up, but doesn't know how much the U.S. will supply. The agreement may be worked out during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to India later this month.

Calling the subject "a very sensitive thing with them," a top Agriculture Department official added: "We're reluctant to say that they have asked for aid because they are reluctant to say so."

India could buy grain and other commodities and have as long as 40 years to pay, with no payments for the first 10 years, under a Food for Peace agreement.

The Soviet Union tried to buy 3.2 million tons of U.S. grain recently, but the shipment was halted by President Ford Oct. 5 because of smaller U.S. harvests blamed on spring floods, summer droughts and autumn freezes.

But Treasury Secretary William E. Simon announced Saturday that the Soviets will be allowed to acquire one million tons of corn and 1.2 million tons of wheat. They agreed to make no further purchases in the U.S. market this crop year, which ends next summer.

The Soviet Union has been a major foreign supplier of wheat to India the past year, providing more than 1.8 million metric tons of wheat, according to USDA figures.

India's wheat production is down, with the crop last spring estimated at 22.5 million tons compared with 24.9 million in 1973.

At the same time, the U.S. wheat reserve may be only 218 million bushels by next summer, the lowest since 1948.

India has not received Food for Peace aid since before its war with Pakistan almost three years ago. It got 1.5 million metric tons of wheat worth $98.7 million under the last agreement, which expired June 30, 1971.

India imported about 3.6 million metric tons of wheat during the 1973-74 fiscal year, including 1.5 million from the United States.

Thank You . . .

We wish to thank Dr. Payton, Fayette Memorial Hospital, Morrow Funeral Home and Rev. Doorneweerd for his consoling words.

Also special thanks to neighbors and friends for the kind acts of kindness.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service tonight is airing "Drink, Drank, Drunk," a one-hour look at the lush life. It's must-see viewing for anyone concerned about the major disease called alcoholism.

Produced by WQED in Pittsburgh and hosted by Carol Burnett, its main emphasis is on helping families and employers of problem drinkers spot the symptoms of alcoholics and suggesting how to best cope with alcoholics.

But the heavy boozer might also do well to watch it, if only for a very funny, yet razorsharp sketch about an alcoholic and his nondrinking, nagging wife. It was written by the husband-and-wife team of Joe Bologna and Renee Taylor.

They're contestants in a game show, "You Waste Your Life," in which the ceaselessly cheery m.c. (Ron Carey) notes the game is played for high stakes: "You can lose your wife, your family, your house, your self-respect and your drapes."

Contestant Bologna, beary-eyed and in a bathrobe, tells about himself this way: "Well, when I started drinking, I was a Supreme Court Justice. Then I landed a fascinating job cleaning rugs, and now I'm semi-retired and living off my mother's savings."

Points in the game are scored by the back-and-forth psychological tactics common in situations of this kind: Lies by the drunk, nagging by the wife, remorse, hate, forgiveness, rage and so on.

At one point she threatens to leave if he touches the gargle again, adding, "I'm taking all the furniture and your Mantovani records and I'm turning the children against you...."

It's highly effective, as is a serious, albeit occasionally propagandizing minidrama in which Larry Blyden plays the frustrated, uncomprehending husband of a drunk, she portrayed by Ellen Madison.

Over-all, the program, its production and promotion financed by a grant from the 3M Company, is an hour well spent.

You might ask why Carol Burnett agreed to host the show. She answers the question in unflinching terms in the opening segment: "My parents died when they were 46 years old because they were drunks."

No rapid transit seen for cities

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary studies indicate cities the size of Cincinnati and Indianapolis cannot expect to see the development of rapid transit systems in the near future, a transportation planner told a tri-state conference here over the weekend.

Richard Bourque, assistant director of transportation planning for the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana Regional Planning Authority (OKI), made the remarks during a keynote address on long-range planning.

Each such system would cost approximately $2 billion, Bourque said, noting that the federal government has not indicated support for funding on such a massive scale.

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Fiddling while the world burns

One gets a most fantastic perspective on America from almost any capital in Western Europe. Depending, as one must for news, on the Paris Herald-Tribune, which is the international extension of the New York Times and the Washington Post, the picture that one receives from across the Atlantic is of a nation that is bewitched by watching a band of hungry press dogs ringed around the White House, waiting for bones.

If a bone comes out with some liberal meat or even gristle attached to it, all is well for the moment. But if there is any deviation in expectations, the dogs yap together on signal that the skies are falling.

It would not matter much if it were not for the fact that the editorial page of the Paris Herald-Tribune is almost 100 per cent dominated by what does or does not happen in the White House Oval Room in relation to a handful of columnists and reporters who entertain a most marked similarity of philosophy. Really, one is forced to ask, is the only dissenting voice in American that of Bill Buckley, who is offered to Europe as the sole oppositional offset to a score of newsmen and commentators who think Bill is slightly odd while all other conservatives are just plumb crazy?

The Ford pardon of Nixon dominated the commentary during the three weeks I was abroad. This was certainly a bone without liberal meat. True enough, there was a logical ambiguity to a pardon that covered unspecified sins that may or may not have been committed. But really, will the world come to an end if the Nixon haters are to be denied a show trial?

The man is out of the Whie House, he has confessed to taking part in a cover-up that had the effect of delaying justice (no great sin in my opinion, for Watergate was little more than a series of panty-raids), and his good work in the cause of peace (or at least so we must hope) is being continued by his appointee as Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger, Surely the man deserves some compassion with an always dangerous clot to concern him.

The point is that preoccupation with the fate of Richard Nixon does nothing for a world that is in the deepest sort of trouble for reasons that have no connection with the Watergate panty-raids, which, incidentally, didn't yield a single panty. Everything in the West can fall apart if the Middle East peace talks get derailed and the Arabs reinstitute the oil boycott. But even if peace is maintained, the money troubles that beset both Europe and America threaten to spin off into a hyper-inflation that will have men shooting each other in the streets.

I was dumbfounded to hear Englishmen, at the Mont Pelerin economic conference in Brussels, predicting that private armies may very well be created by military veterans to carry on essential social services if Britain is beset this coming winter with a rash of strikes. Since the British unions would consider the interference of any private groups to be strike-breaking, the act of trying to carry on an essential service would be the signal for civil war. Such conflict hasn't been seen in England since the 17th Century. In Ulster, yes, but in England, no.

The predictions of trouble don't come from professional hotheads. Alan Walters, the Cassel Professor of Economics at London University, a most sober man, says the chances of hyper-inflation in Britain are now about 50-50. He sees ineffectual "Canute-like posturing" by the most prestigious British economists, not to mention the British Treasury itself. We all know what happened to the middle classes in pre-Hitler Germany, he says, and while he still hopes it won't happen in England, he concludes that the time has come to think about the unthinkable.

Walters is no isolated Cassandra. Even the promise of North Sea oil shrinks in one's estimation when one hears something about the cost of bringing the new wells in. If the Arab oil cartel now has the power to keep the West in the vise of high prices, what would stop it from underselling what the North Sea will bring to Europe?

There's trouble ahead for the West as far down the line as one can see. And who, among us, is reconciled to giving up a single thing?

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the sectiion in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Weighty matters will need to be given sufficient thought now; also a great deal of patience. Don't try to rush things through. Neither fear failure. Stress your innate optimism.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

An average day generally, but you may be given some additional responsibilities; may also face some complex situations. Handle all with your usual equanimity.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

You may find yourself in the midst of controversy. Don't let it bother you. Rather, get together with opponents and, using your innate foresight, you can solve all issues nicely.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

A thoughtful review before beginning day's program will speed up its fine potentialities for success. Especially favored: teachers, students, all engaged in the medical professions.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Advance a new idea, enlist the help of others to put it across. Under prevailing influences, you should win new benefits, advance your status.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Stellar influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

This looks like one of your better days. You should be the center of attraction in whatever circle you find yourself — business or pleasure.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Excellent Mars influences! New trends may result in an agreement where there was only opposition before. Do make the most of such fine opportunity.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Jupiter influences not too friendly. Avoid getting in over your head — especially where you happen to be on unfamiliar ground.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A favorable day for negotiations, working toward contract settlements. Parties of the second part now appreciate what you have to offer.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Mixed influences. Stay out of speculative ventures and be exceptionally careful in dealings with the opposite sex.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

The Piscean tendency to seek the unusual and offbeat will be much in evidence now. You'll find much satisfaction in areas others overlook.

YOU BORN TODAY, are an intense and lively individual — a real "firecracker" in both your personal and professional life. Your attitude toward associates is extremely outgoing and you possess an unusual flair for the dramatic. With all this, you are within, a softly sensitive person, caring deeply for others and actually suffering over "man's inhumanity to man." No matter what career you adopt, you will, almost inevitably, make time to devote yourself to causes designed to improve the common lot. Career-wise, you would make an intense and dynamic actor, a brilliant attorney or jurist, a powerfully persuasive writer, a highly sensitive musician — in almost any field.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I think it is noteworthy to bring to the attention of the residents of Fayette County, of the importance of the participation of industry to the blood program.

The significance of this was noted at the Sept. 26 visit of the Bloodmobile to Fayette County. Industry provided 50 per cent of the donors, and leading the group is Mac Tools, Inc. Since October 1973, almost every visit the Bloodmobile makes to Washington C.H., there are 30 or more blood donors from Mac Tools, Inc., which is a relative new industry to Washington C.H. As blood program chairman for Fayette County, I would like to thank industry, particularly Mac Tools, Inc., for their fine cooperation.

Cuyahoga race hot and heavy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— One of the most hotly contested races in Ohio this year is in the southern and western third of Cuyahoga County, the 23rd District where voters will elect a new congressman for the first time in 20 years.

Seven candidates seek to succeed Republican William E. Minshall of Lakewood, who is retiring.

The campaign lines up as a three-way battle. The principals are state Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma; state Rep. George E. Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, and Dennis Kucinich, Cleveland councilman who is running as an independent on the premise that one cannot avoid Watergate-type politics in either major party.

The contest also includes two attorneys and two businessmen alike only in their determination to be giant killers.

The four are Arthur L. Cain of Strongsville, a patent attorney; Bohdan A. Futey of Parma, director of Cleveland's bicentennial preparations; Hugh J. Gallagher of Lakewood, a specialist in industrial promotions, and William H. Maloof, a commercial parking lot owner.

Mottl, 40, perhaps best known as the state senator who sponsored the Ohio lottery bill, wades into the fray with the backing of the state's largest newspaper, the Cleveland Plain Dealer. A 16-year veteran of politics, Mottl has been a senator since 1969, a state representative and a Parma councilman.

The 1974 23rd District campaign centers on tactics to tilt successfully against the twin windmills of corruption in government and inflation.

Mottl would control prices, wages and profits and raise the personal federal income tax exemption from $750 to $1,000. He would use receipts from an excess oil profits tax to finance research into alternative energy sources.

Mastics, a state representative since 1967, is wont to appear on the doorsteps of 100 potential constituents on an Indian summer campaign Saturday with his blonde wife, Carole, and one of five children in tow.

"Balance the budget," he responds to yet another inflation-weary suburbanite. Mastics claims the U.S. debt at $500 billion is $90 billion more than the combined debt of the rest of the world.

Foreign and giveaways have cost the nation $22 million a day for nearly 30 years, he says.

An act that bears Mastics' name provides for drug rehabilitation centers, drug education in Ohio schools and harsh punishment for peddlers.

Mastics describes another of his bills, one dealing with campus disorders, as one "to allow students wanting an education to get one without the disruptive activities of radicals and troublemakers."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Pregnant daughter refuses to wed

DEAR ABBY: My daughter graduated from college. With honors, yet, but listen to what this dumbbell did. She moved in with her boyfriend with the understanding that if they both decided they were right for each other they would get married.

Now she thinks she's pregnant, but she has not told her boyfriend because she wants him to marry her for HERSELF, not because there is a baby on the way. Have you ever heard of such stupidity from a college graduate?

Thank God we don't live in the same city because I keep thinking of things I'd like to say to her and it's getting harder and harder to keep my mouth shut.

I wish I could talk some sense into that girl's head. She never misses your column. Maybe you can.

TEARING MY HAIR

DEAR TEARING: Your daughter hasn't asked me for any advice, so I'm not about to give her any. But I have some for you. Quit tearing your hair over a grown daughter of legal age who is determined to live her life the way she wants to. It's her privilege. Right or wrong.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two children under five. I was married, but it didn't work out.

For a year now I have been going with a very nice and lovable older man. My only bad break is that he is married and living with his wife.

He says he loves me very much and one day will marry me, but right now he feels sorry for his wife and he can't talk divorce to her or she will crack up. (She's not very strong. They have five kids.) He tells his wife he's working late and comes over here for supper nearly every night. My kids call him "Daddy," but they're confused because when they go to bed at night their 'Daddy" is here, but he's never here when they wake up in the morning.

I have no one to talk to about this. My mother would never understand. Please advise me.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: I think you're wasting your time. Get smart and say goodbye to this part-time "Daddy." Look for an unattached man your kids can say "Good night" and "Good morning" to.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this in utter disgust for the way guys are starting to dress now. It makes me sick to my stomach to see men walk around in platform shoes and midriff blouses with their navels showing! What on earth would make a man want to dress that way!

Are people so taken in by the weirdo fashion designers that they will buy anything as long as it's new and considered "in"?

I don't mind a little imagination in men's wear, but some of these flowered shirts and feminine looking duds are ridiculous. Men don't look like men anymore.

Now that I got this off my chest, I feel better.

FEMALE

DEAR FEMALE: Not ALL men are buying the above-described attire. And as for your complaint about men not looking like men, could it be because some WOMEN look like men?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LU WITH A LULU OF A PROBLEM": Yes, for every problem there IS a solution-even if it's only learning to live with it. When you pick a lemon, make lemonade.

BALLOT LANGUAGE, EXPLANATIONS, AND RESOLUTIONS FOR PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS AT THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 5, 1974

1 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Article XII, Section 2

TO PERMIT LAWS REDUCING REAL ESTATE TAXES ON THE HOMESTEADS OF PERMANENTLY AND TOTALLY DISABLED RESIDENTS.

If adopted, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1975.
(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?
	NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 1

The Ohio Constitution presently provides that land and improvements thereon must be taxed by uniform rule according to value. The only current exception to this requirement is the 1970 amendment which permits the General Assembly to provide in the tax laws for a reduced tax for residents 65 years of age and older by providing for a reduction in the value of the homestead of such persons.

Issue No. 1, if passed, would create a second exception to the uniform tax rule by permitting the General Assembly to reduce the homestead value in the case of PERMANENTLY AND TOTALLY DISABLED PERSONS, thereby reducing their taxes.

2 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

TO REPEAL SECTION 12 OF ARTICLE VIII OF THE OHIO CONSTITUTION, WHICH REQUIRES THE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT A SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC WORKS FOR A ONE-YEAR TERM.
(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	YES	SHALL THE SECTION BE REPEALED?
	NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 2

Article VIII, section 12 of the Ohio Constitution requires the Governor to appoint a superintendent of public works for a one year term.

Due to an enactment of the 110th General Assembly creating the Department of Administrative Services, the duties of the Department of Public Works were included, as were those of the Departments of Finance and State Personnel, in this new department. As such, there is no longer a Department of Public Works, as its duties and functions are now lodged with the Director of Administrative Services, who, under the provisions of law, is appointed by the Governor to serve at his pleasure with the advice and consent of the Senate.

3 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Article VIII, Section 13

TO INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING AMONG THE PURPOSES FOR WHICH PUBLIC INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS MAY BE ISSUED AND LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAMS UNDERTAKEN, WITHOUT OBLIGATING OR PLEDGING MONEYS RAISED BY TAXATION:

1. THE PRESERVATION OF EXISTING JOBS,
2. THE CONTROL OF AIR, WATER AND THERMAL POLLUTION,
3. THE DISPOSAL OF SOLID WASTE, AND
4. THE CONSTRUCTION OF ELECTRIC AND GAS UTILITY SERVICE FACILITIES FOR POLLUTION CONTROL OR SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL.

(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 3

Article VIII, section 13 of the Ohio Constitution currently permits public industrial development revenue bonds and loan guarantee financing of facilities for industry, commerce, distribution and research, to create jobs and employment opportunities and improve the economic welfare of the people of the state. Such financing is done through issuance of revenue bonds or guarantees of loans, with moneys for repayment coming from the operation of the facilities. Moneys raised by taxation may not be obligated or pledged for payment of the bonds or guarantees. That restriction would be retained in this amendment.

The amendment would add the preservation of existing jobs to the creation of jobs as a proper purpose of such financing, and would also add the control of air, water, and thermal pollution and the disposal of solid waste as separate objectives for such bonds or loan guarantees.

The present section forbids facilities to be constructed through such financing "for the purpose of providing electric or gas utility service to the public." The amendment would make an exception to this for pollution control and solid waste disposal facilities, so that they would be financed through utility rates, which will provide the moneys to pay off the financing without in any way obligating or pledging any moneys raised by taxation.

FULL TEXT OF THE RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING EACH AMENDMENT

ISSUE 1
(House Joint Resolution No. 59)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 2 of Article XII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio to provide that laws may be passed reducing taxes by providing for a reduction in value of the homestead for totally disabled residents.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November 1974, a proposal to amend section 2 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII

Section 2. No property, taxed according to value, shall be so taxed in excess of one per cent of its true value in money for all state and local purposes, but laws may be passed authorizing additional taxes to be levied outside of such limitation, either when approved by at least a majority of the electors of the taxing district voting on such proposition, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation. Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value, except that laws may be passed to reduce taxes by providing for a reduction in value of the homestead of permanently and totally disabled residents and residents sixty-five years of age and older, and providing for income and other qualifications to obtain such reduction. All bonds outstanding on the 1st day of January, 1913, of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state, or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools of Ohio and the means of instruction in connection therewith, which bonds were outstanding on the 1st day of January, 1913, and all bonds issued for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation, and without limiting the general power, subject to the provisions of Article I of this constitution, to determine the subjects and methods of taxation or exemptions therefrom, general laws may be passed to exempt burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions used exclusively for charitable purposes, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, but all such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property so exempted shall, from time to time, be ascertained and published as may be directed by law.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect, and section 12 of Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 3
(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 22)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 13 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to expand the purposes for which public industrial development revenue bonds may be issued to include preservation of existing jobs and removal of an existing denial of the use of the section for facilities for electric or gas utility service to the extent that such facilities are constructed for pollution control or solid waste disposal and to remove obsolete language.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1974, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by amending section 13 of Article VIII thereof to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII

Except for facilities for pollution control or solid waste disposal, as determined by law, no guarantees or loans and no lending of aid or credit shall be made under the laws enacted pursuant to this section of the Constitution for facilities to be constructed for the purpose of providing electric or gas utility service to the public.

The powers herein granted shall be in addition to and not in derogation of existing powers of the state or its political subdivisions, taxing districts, or public authorities, or their agencies or instrumentalities or corporations not for profit designated by any of them as such agencies or instrumentalities.

Dumford backs action for mentally retarded

State government should assume the cost of transporting trainable mentally retarded persons, Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford, of Washington C.H., Democratic candidate for the Ohio House of Representatives from the 77th District, said today.

"I am wholeheartedly in support of the action the Ohio legislature took recently when it appropriated $2.1 million to reimburse local mental retardation boards for transporting the trainable mentally retarded. This $2.1 million appropriation is the first time the legislature has made such a subsidy available to local boards," he said.

Dumford further noted that this appropriation was the result of an 11-year fight carried out by mental retardation boards and their supporters. The money will become available on Jan. 1, 1975 and is for a six-month period.

"NOW THAT the legislature has established a precedent recognizing its responsibility to help local mental retardation boards with transportation costs, the subsidy should become a permanent part of state operations. I will support efforts designed to obtain a line-item appropriation in the next budget if I am elected state representative," Dumford said.

The former three-term Fayette County commissioner said some local mental retardation boards spend as much as 40 per cent of their budgets on transportation. If the state assumed the cost of transportation, more local program funds could become available for other important uses, he noted.

Dumford said that there are more than 23,000 mentally retarded persons served by local mental retardation boards and that the state has much to gain by increasing its assistance to mental retardation.

"Any program which will help the mentally retarded to become self-sustaining and useful members of today's society will have my support in the legislature," Dumford concluded.

Cold air chills much of nation

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cold air chilled many parts of the country east of the Mississippi River early Monday, with temperatures reported near or below freezing from New England to the northern half of South Carolina.

In the Midwest, temperatures dipped into the teens in southern Michigan and northern Indiana.

Despite the cold, there was little precipitation in most parts of the nation.

The exceptions were reports of an inch of snow in north central Nevada, scattered rain showers from Idaho into the western regions of Montana and Wyoming, and the northern sections of Utah.

Light snow also left traces of moisture over the western portion of New York State and Pennsylvania.

There were cloudy conditions in southern Texas, northern Michigan and spots along the eastern Ohio Valley through the central Appalachians.

Conditions were cool but fair over the remainder of the country.

KEEP WARM — Cozy and big on good looks, this sweater with snuggle-in warmth is collared with an overzided turtleneck and has one of the new center muff pockets to slide your hand into on crisp fall days. GLAMOUR fashion editors accessorized it with a deep green beret, a textured, woven shoulder bag, and one knitted muffler looped over another for a contrasting color-pattern effect.

Busy as a Bee

OLD Log Cabin quilt is admired by Blanche Greenstein, a co-owner of Antique Quilts. Some of her prize-winning antique quilts were displayed recently at a Hallmark Gallery exhibit.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

HOW MUCH money do you need to start a successful business? Marcia Delman did it with one dollar, a stroke of good luck and a great idea.

"I was driving around in New York State's ski country," the 23-year-old New Yorker recalled, "when we happened on a fair. I borrowed a dollar from a friend to buy a chance on a quilt — and I won it."

That was the start of Marcia's winning streak. When she met the quilt's maker, Elsa Sanford, it was the beginning of the patchwork firm she calls Moon Over the Mountain. But she didn't know it at the time.

"Elsa and I hit it off instantly," Marcia said. "I went back to New York with several of her patchwork pillows."

Instant Success

When friends wanted to buy them, Marcia sent for more, and more. Almost without realizing it, she was in business. When the tought finally dawned, she quit a good job in film production. While Elsa lined up quilters, Marcia opened a New York showroom.

The firm is now a year old. How's it doing?

"It must be doing OK," Marcia said with a grin, "because the books are in the black."

Her original group of upstate New York patchworkers has been expanded to include women throughout the New England states. Moon over the Mountain is an American cottage industry. The women work in their own homes and supply their handiwork to Marcia for marketing. She keeps a close eye on patchwork in progress.

Fringe Benefits

"At least twice a week, I drive up to see my women," she said. "It's nice to get out in the country. I come back with quilts and with fringe benefits — dandelion wine, fresh turkey and eggs, home-baked bread. I've acquired a lot of new 'mothers.' "

Marcia conceived and assembled the fascinating "American Patchwork" display held recently at the Hallmark Gallery in New York City. More than a gallery event, it was a meeting of old friends and a making of new ones.

Friendly Folks

"You meet people through quilt-making," Marcia said. "Wonderful people."

Bea Simpkins, a quilt-making teacher from Lynbrook, N.Y., who met Marcia through Moon Over the Mountain, agreed.

"People who sew with their hands are a special kind of people," she said. "They're structured and orderly. They make good friends."

The sentiment was echoed by another enthusiast, Blanche Greenstein who also started a business, Antique Quilts, because she got hooked on patchwork.

"I bought an old quilt," she said, "then, the next day, I went back and bought two more. It was an odd thing to do because I have only one bed. It started me collecting. When friends began buying my collection, I went into business."

Making Your Own

Collecting is only one facet of the current quilting craze. Quilt-making is another. Classes are springing up all over the country.

Elane Burns, a needlecraft expert, who teaches senior citizens in Lynbrook, N.Y., says they're enthusiastic about patchwork.

"They are women whose children have grown up," she said. "They are financially comfortable and have no responsibilities so it's time for them to be creative. Almost everyone, given the chance, has creative ability."

What better way to express it in our inflationary times than by patchwork, the all-American craft that thrifty colonial housewives devised to use up scraps.

In contrast the first two weekends of October were among the year's worst, with death tolls of 20 and 23, respectively.

The weekend count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

When is recession not recession?

NEW YORK (AP) — Debt repayments on installment loans are taking most of the discretionary income of some consumers. Layoffs are mounting. Factories are slowing the production lines.

What do these characteristics suggest? Well, certainly not a recession, if you use the standards of the administration. President Ford says there's no recession. So does his commerce secretary, Frederick Dent.

Earlier in the year Dent referred to the economic decline as an "energy-crisis spasm." Last week, after the third straight quarterly decline in the Gross National Product, he explained "the spasm continues."

What really is occuring, Dent explained, is "sideways waffling," a term that will be variously interpreted as an effort to hide the truth, a lack of awareness, or a frightening attempt at euphony that recalls the reassuring statements of the early Hoover administration.

Mysteriously, the definition of "recession" disappeared with the onset of what once used to be called recession. The most popular definition was two consecutive quarters of declining Gross National Product.

To date, the GNP has fallen for three straight quarters — 7 per cent in the first three months of 1974, 1.6 per cent in the second three, and 2.9 per cent in the third quarter.

Moreover, a further decline, most likely larger than that in the third quarter, is likely to occur in the final three months of the year. And a large number of responsible economists foresee a continued decline early in 1975.

Contributing to the decline is a slowing of factory operations. A Federal Reserve Board report reveals that plants operated at only 79.2 per cent of capacity in the July-September period, the lowest in two years.

Lionel Edie, the economic consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the broker, predicts the gap between potential GNP and actual GNP will be the widest since the 1930s by the middle of next year.

At the same time, joblessness is moving sharply higher. It reached 5.8 per cent of the labor force in September, and is almost certain to exceed 6 per cent in the fourth, or current, quarter.

With an economy acting so badly and often so surprisingly, long-distance forecasts are dangerous to make. Many responsible economists are, however, suggesting that a rate well above 6 per cent might prevail early in 1975.

The strains of this deterioration are present in every middle and lower class family in America, especially since they are combined with a consumer price inflation that leaped to 11.5 per cent in the third quarter.

Many families now are buried by their own mismanagement, having to use their income merely to pay old bills. Installment debt repayment in the second quarter hit 16 per cent of disposable income, highest ever.

Ohio River quake noted

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — No damages or injuries were reported Sunday when a small earthquake shook a wide area along the Ohio River here.

G.A. Bollinger, professor of geophysics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., said the quake was recorded on the seismograph at the school and would have registered between a two or three on the Richter scale.

He described it as "very small and very rare" but said several such quakes have been reported in the area in the last hundred years.

Residents of the area said the vibrations and tremors lasted only a few seconds. At first an explosion was suspected at one of several nearby chemical plants. Later when plant officials reported nothing unusual, it was assumed it was a sonic boom.

State highway crews tackle first snow

The Ohio Department of Transportation garage, CCC Highway-W, activated three salt trucks Saturday night during the year's first snowfall.

Gene Fitzpatrick, garage superintendent, said that it was one of the earliest dates requiring salt crews in recent years.

Although some of the work scheduled this week may be delayed if the temperatures remain at the freezing point, the garage hopes to do patching work on Ohio 734-W, patch the blacktop on Interstate 71 at the Ohio 41 exit ramp, and continue berm work on Ohio 41-N. Trash crews and rest area wash crews will be in operation, if the weather permits.

According to Charles Wagner, county engineer, work crews will be resurfacing Davids Road in Jasper Township and patching county roads in Wayne and Marion townships. Repair work will be done on a bridge and culverts on Harmony Road, and mowing will continue throughout the county.

City streets crews will begin clearing leaves, according to Bill Duncan, street superintendent. The leaf project will begin in the city's first ward and continue throught the city. City crews will be sweeping and patching streets and will be clearing brush from Paint Creek banks.

Probe hospital embezzlement

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — An investigation into charges of embezzlement at Hardin Memorial Hospital was to continue today with a grand jury reconvening and taking evidence at Elizabethtown.

Strict secrecy has surrounded the investigation. Former hospital Director Don Davis said in May that embezzlement went on during the term of a previous hospital administrator.

Davis said he learned of the embezzlement through a report by an accounting firm that audited hospital records.

Businessmen see no deep slump

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite inflation, rising unemployment and the high cost of money, the nation should get through the coming months without a severe economic slump, say businessmen surveyed by The Associated Press.

The business leaders — nearly a 100 retailers, manufacturers and bankers from around the country — were queried during the month before President Ford's economic address to Congress.

Inflation remains the country's biggest economic problem, the businessmen say, but unemployment is a growing cancer and is expected by the businessmen to become the next major problem.

President Ford won general praise for what many called his cautious, prudent approach to economics, though many said they'd reserve judgment to see results. In general, they said Ford's economic summit meetings helped focus public attention on inflation, a critical need many businessmen said.

"Half of economics is science," says Maurice Ferre, Miami mayor and president of Maule, Inc., a construction company. "The other half is human nature, which outweighs the so-called economic truths.

"If people believe there will be a recession, there will be."

As might be expected, most of those businessmen interviewed say more business and less government is the long run answer to inflation.

"Rather than relief from government I think our real need today is relief of government," says Ken Smith, executive with Jantzen, Inc., a Portland, Ore., clothing manufacturer.

"The government is the biggest consumer and the consumer still controls inflation," says Robert Duckworth of the First National Bank of Arizona.

A balanced budget is the first step toward easing inflation because it will reduce government demand for funds, thus freeing money for business expansion, said most businessmen questioned. Increased productivity and expansion, will cut inflation, they said.

"There are only two reasons for inflation: too much money or too few goods," says William Dillard Sr., an Arkansas retailer. "We need more producers."

But, says Gabe Rutherford, president of an Arkansas steel fabricating firm: "The talk about cutting federal spending really means cutting construction. That would mean a bigger slowdown."

Despite growing evidence of a recession — consumer hesitancy, concern over inventories, rising unemployment — the businessmen still say inflation is the nation's chief economic headache.

"I don't think inflation is going to change its upward trend or stop anytime soon, because I don't think prices are going to stop rising," says Lewis Kohn, chairman of Maryland's Rochshild Kohn Department Store.

But, says Kenneth Ross, economist with the First National Bank of Arizona: "Ford may be in a little better position than President Nixon. There are some blips on the radar screen that may mean we are starting to come out of the problem."

Some are more skeptical, however. "I think it's unrealistic to think we can stop inflation without too severe of a recession," says Bill Bright, a West Virginia greeting card manufacturer.

Former Nixon aide raps press role

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A former aide to ex-President Richard Nixon criticized the news media Sunday for what he said was biased coverage of the White House.

Bruce Herschensohn singled out the television networks and said the daily coverage of former administration officials going to and from court for the Watergate proceedings was a form of "20th Century lynching."

Speaking at the closing session of a symposium conducted here by the Center for the Study of the Presidency, Hershcensohn said Nixon was in a no-win situation with the news media.

"If we gave out news, we were regarded as paranoid," Herschensohn said. "If not, we were criticized for not informing."

Also participating in a discussion of the media and the presidency, Dr. J. Leiper Freeman, political science professor at Vanderbilt University, said those who criticize the media the most need to analyze and stuuy it more.

The center, a nonprofit New York-based group devoted to "the study of the world's most powerful lay office," held its three-day symposium at the historic Spiegel Grove Estate of former President Rutherford B. Hayes.

The symposium was sponsored by Heidelberg College in nearby Tiffin, Bowling Green State University and the Hayes Foundation.

Predominant theme arising out of the meetings was an apparent need to strengthen the two-party system.

Jerald terHorst, who served briefly as President Ford's press secretary, told the 135 academicians Saturday night that recent third-party movements are indications of a weakening of the two-party system.

"Independents are sufficient to constitute a major third party," he said.

terHorst, who resigned because of the pardon of Nixon, said Ford is in a position to restore faith in the system.

He said the President has the respect and admiration of many Democrats, but also could strengthen his own party by influencing conservative Democrats and independents toward the Republican cause.

Brown discusses drug legislation here

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

A distinguished Ohio visitor passed through Washington C.H. Saturday morning with few people even aware of his presence.

Attorney General William J. Brown stopped in the Democratic headquarters at the Washington Inn about 10:30 a.m. for a quick cup of coffee before continuing to Xenia where he was to speak on a piece of drug legislation drafted through his office.

Brown said he has scheduled a debate with opponent George C. Smith Wednesday at the Cuyahoga County Bar Association and will stress his past political record in consumerism, anti-trust, charitable foundations and environment as key issues during the debate.

Brown, who spoke with a noticeable touch of the flu to approximately 15 persons at the morning brunch, said his office was "gearing up the investigation to be done by the Cuyahoga County grand jury" in reference to Smith's and the U.S. General Accounting Office contentions that there were possible fund-raising violations by the Democratic party in Ohio in 1972.

"We're not like the other side; we'll take care of our own," Brown said.

Brown spent most of the hour in a question and answer session with local Democratic club president Richard Kimmet, Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for 77th district House of Representatives, and Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford.

The men discussed the drug legislation, which was drafted by Brown's office in June, 1973, and introduced to the January session of the legislation.

The bill, which Brown claims could "reduce the drug problem 25 per cent within the first six months," has beeen held up in the Senate Rules Committee, awaiting a Nov. 12 meeting.

The Ohio House of Representatives passed the bill 89-3 and according to Brown, "when you get the House of Representatives to vote 89-3, it's daylight — and quite an accomplishment."

The proposed statute has been a major issue by Brown in his recent travels throughout the state. "The bill is not dead," he said. "It's a good, sound, comprehensive and very unique piece of drug legislation from education through rehabilitation."

The bill includes "sure, mandatory penalties with no probation, no parole and no shock probation," according to Brown.

In a broad outline of the total drug market, Brown said the penalty for heroin was seven years; lesser opiates, four years; amphetamines and barbiturates, two years; and marijuana, six months, with concentration on the pushers, or those who deal in the trafficking of drugs.

Brown said the bill holds a "definitive and strict style of penalty system which is a deviation of the way the drug problem has been handled since the early 1960s."

The bill "eliminates easy outs while giving the first-time user every opportunity to be rehabilitated through pretrial diversion."

Brown said the first offender would have the opportunity to request pretrial diversion and if he so chooses, he would be directly diverted into the rehabilitation process. "If he is successfully rehabilitated, the first offender will not have to participate in the court process and all records will be destroyed," Brown added.

"It treats the first offender as a person who has made a mistake," he said.

Noting that the crime rate has increased in rural counties 14 per cent while the rate has declined in the cities, Brown said "heroin is not confined to the ghetto of Cleveland and I hope this can be communicated to the people of Washington C.H."

While adding that he realizes the drug bill puts a tremendous burden on the laboratories and prosecuting attorneys, who are already deluged with work, he said, "It's better than putting a tremendous burden on the gravediggers. There are too many people dying or being mamed from drug-rlated crimes."

Brown also discussed problems with the Record-Herald he encountered as being the youngest man ever elected to a state office. Now only 34 years old, Brown said it was a large shift to move from being a practicing trial lawyer to "the third largest law firm in the United States.

"There were problems in dealing with the media and my brothers in the law firms and you have to learn to compromise and maneuver in the legislature.

"As attorney general, you suffer crushing defeats and tremendous victories — on a daily basis," he added.

200 workers return to Sandusky plant

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Some 200 workers returned to their jobs at the Chrysler Products plant here after ratifying a new three-year contract Sunday to end a six-week strike.

The workers, members of the Sandusky Chrysler Employes Association, voted 100-22 in favor of the new pact, which replaces one that expired June 1. Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Man makes own electric auto

By TOM FENTON
Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Dick Bassett says he took a basket of surplus military electrical parts and a junk auto body and turned them into a little electric car that hums along at 40 miles an hour for up to 50 miles.

"My wife and daughters drive it continuously," he said. "It's an awful lot cheaper than a gasoline-driven car.

"The idea of an electric car isn't anything new, but putting one together and driving it around town sure is," said Bassett, 48, an engineer at Sandia Laboratories.

Bassett said the car costs a little over half-a-penny per mile to operate, based on the current price of electricity. He said he has about $1,000 invested in the car. Nearly threefourths of the cost is in the 10 lead-acid storage batteries, five each in what had been the car's engine and trunk spaces.

"It's a weird feeling, sitting at a stoplight in the car. When the accelerator isn't depressed, there's no sound. No power is consumed. You always wonder if you're really going to move when you hit the pedal," Bassett said. "My wife has a problem with it while shopping. People in parking lots constantly walk in front of the car, because they can't hear it coming.

"We also have trouble getting service at drive-in bank windows, because tellers depend on an intercom to alert them that a customer is coming. We usually wind up blowing the horn."

The idea of the car, he said, had been in the back of his mind a long time.

"I really decided to do something about it when the energy crisis came. The car body had to be light and boxy, so I bought a 1963, four door foreign compact sedan. I began by stripping everything out of the car—motor, radiator heater, hoses, the works.

"It weighed about 1,595 pounds to begin with. I stripped about 300 pounds off of it," Bassett said.

He acquired a surplus aircraft generator from a California firm — a 28 volt, 300-amp generator that weighed about 80 pounds and delivers about 36 mechanical horsepower.

Bassett discarded the car's clutch assembly and bolted the generator directly to a fourspeed transmission he rebuilt.

"I rigged a flexible coupling, but I was counting on the syncromesh in the transmission to let me shift gears without a clutch. It worked out real fine, but we never use first gear. It's such a high gear ratio, it just spins the wheels or tends to lift the front end of the car."

Controlling the speed proved another problem.

"That was solved by rigging the accelerator pedal to sequenced micro switches, which are used to operate surplus, 400-amp, 28-volt relays," he said. "That gives the car three electrical speeds in each gear. The pickup is fantastic. And when you let up on the accelerator pedal, it becomes almost freewheeling."

The batteries are charged by plugging a charger into a connector in the grill.

"An overnight charge is sufficient to restore even a completely dead battery," Bassett said.

Man said suicide as police approach

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — North Canton police reported Sunday that Kenneth Schultz, 21, of Warren, Mich., shot himself to death as officers approached him to question him about a drugstore holdup.

The incident occurred in a wooded area where police had staked out the robbery loot after receiving a tip that two men had been seen hiding it there.

Police said Schultz was AWOL from the Air Force.

Radio communication between ground and aircraft was virtually nonexistent until 1930, when two-way radio-telephones arrived.

GOP luncheon, rally scheduled this week

Former Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes will be the guest speaker at a fund-raising luncheon here Friday.

The $25-a-plate GOP dinner will begin at noon in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground, according to Robert Brubaker, chairman for Rhodes' re-election campaign in Fayette County.

Brubaker said the luncheon would probably only last about an hour and a half because of an afternoon appointment elsewhere for Rhodes.

On Thursday there will be a fall rally in the Republican headquarters office, at the corner of North and Court streets. The guest speaker will be Bob McEwen, candidate for the Ohio House of Representatives from the 77th District.

The rally will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. There will be free refreshments and door prizes. The rally is sponsored by the Fayette County Republican Club which urges all area residents to vote on election day.

Fires kill 8 persons

By The Associated Press

Eight persons died in house fires around Ohio Sunday.

Five of the deaths occurred in Columbus in two separate blazes and three of the victims died in a fire at Montpelier in northwestern Ohio.

William G. Bailey Jr., 3, his brother, David, 2, and a halfbrother, Billy Jo Hiser, 6, died in a fire in their home on Columbus' northeast side. Firemen theorized the blaze may have been started by one of the children playing with matches.

A fire that leveled a two-story frame house on the near north side of Columbus claimed the lives of Henry and Callie Landrum, both in their 50s. Officials said they believed the fire started when a kitchen stove overheated.

At Montpelier, Dennis Hollstein, 26, Ford Hollstein, 58, and Connie Smethurst, 18, died in a fire that officials said might have been arson. The state fire marshal's office was asked to investigate.

Cards remain unbeaten in NFL

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

And then there was one ... barely.

The surprising St. Louis Cardinals are now the only undefeated team in the National Football League — the Minnesota Vikings and New England Patriots were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten Sunday — and Coach Don Coryell is enjoying his team's success to the fullest.

"The pressure of being unbeaten doesn't make any difference from a coaching standpoint, but I like it," said Coryell, in his second year at St. Louis since leaving San Diego State. "I wouldn't be in the business if I didn't."

Quarterback Jim Hart sparked the Cards to a 31-13 lead early in the fourth quarter, and they withstood two one-yard touchdown runs by Houston's George Amundson for the victory.

Hart capitalized on a pair of Oiler fumbles and threw touchdown passes of six and 40 yards to Earl Thomas in a 1:32 minute span of the second quarter to spark the Cards.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Lions dropped Minnesota from the list of the unbeatens, upsetting the Vikings 20-16, while New England's balloon finally was burst by Buffalo 30-28.

Elsewhere in the NFL, the Baltimore Colts whipped the New York Jets 35-20, the New Orleans Saints upset the Atlanta Falcons 13-3, the Dallas Cowboys beat the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24, the Pittsburgh Steelers edged the Cleveland Browns 20-16, the Washington Redskins defeated the New York Giants 24-3, the Miami Dolphins slipped past the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3, the Denver Broncos defeated the San Diego Chargers 27-7, the Los Angeles Rams topped the San Francisco 49ers 37-14 and the Oakland Raiders beat the Cincinnati Bengals 30-27.

Lions 20, Vikings 16

Bill Munson was the big man for the Lions, completing 22 of 32 passes for 276 yards. Ten of his passes were caught by wide receiver Ron Jessie.

Detroit's victory was its first over the Vikings in 14 meetings going back to 1967.

Bills 30, Patriots 28

New England's Sam Cunningham raced 75 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage, but after that it was a struggle for the Patriots, who had stunned football experts by winning their first five games.

"That run scared me," said Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson, who threw for three TDs. "I'm just glad we forgot about it and came right back," he added.

Ferguson threw touchdown passes to Paul Seymour and O.J. Simpson within the next 11 minutes to put Buffalo in front, and New England never drew even.

Rams 37, 49ers 14

James Harris sparkled in his first start at quarterback for the Rams, passing for three touchdowns and running for another. He completed 12 of 15 passes for 276 yards.

San Francisco wide receiver Dan Abramowicz caught two passes and set an NFL record with at least one reception in 97 straight games.

Dolphins 9, Chiefs 3

"It was a tough yard," said Miami Dolphins fullback Larry Csonka, whose one-yard plunge with 17 seconds remaining beat the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3. Csonka, who didn't practice all week because of an injured left knee, gained 80 yards in 17 carries.

Raiders 30, Bengals 27

"There was never any doubt in my mind," Oakland Coach John Madden said of his decision to punt with his team at the Cincinnati 32-yard line with three minutes left. Oakland trailed 27-23 at the time.

Saints 13, Falcons 3

Bobby Scott, given the starting nod at quarterback when Coach John North benched Archie Manning during the week, tossed a 36-yard scoring pass to Paul Seal for the only touchdown of the game as the Saints upset Atlanta for their first victory in 19 games on the road.

Steelers 20, Browns 16

Pittsburgh struggled past the Browns as quarterback Joe Gilliam managed to complete just five of 18 pass attempts for the Steelers. Two second-half field goals by Roy Gerela were the difference.

Redskins 24, Giants 3

Veteran Sonny Jurgensen threw three touchdown passes to pace the Redskins, who took advantage of frequent New York mistakes, including a punt which was blocked by Mike Hull.

Cowboys 31, Eagles 24

Dallas snapped a four-game losing streak by beating the Eagles. Roger Staubach's one-yard TD run midway through the fourth quarter was the margin of victory.

Colts 35, Jets 20

Baltimore's Lydell Mitchell set an NFL record by carrying the ball 40 times, one more than O.J. Simpson's standard set last year. He gained 156 yards and scored one touchdown in leading the Colts to their first victory of the season.

Broncos 27, Chargers 7

Running back Floyd Little, slowed all season by a nagging ankle injury, scored one touchdown and set up another by galloping 72 yards with a short pass to lead Denver past San Diego.

Malone held to four points

By The Associated Press

Moses Malone jumped straight from high school into the American Basketball Association, but the 19-year-old millionaire is still getting an education. One of his teachers is Professor Caldwell.

Aided by veteran Joe Caldwell's defensive maneuvering against Malone, the Spirits of St. Louis defeated the Utah Stars 116-109 Sunday night. Utah's prize rookie scored only four points.

"He's a great prospect, he's going to be a great player," said Caldwell, 32, one of the ABA's top defensive players, about Malone, who shot two for six from the field in 28 minutes with nine rebounds.

"Mainly it was just keeping the ball away from him," said Caldwell, a 10-year pro. "I wanted to see what he'd do without the ball in his hands. He didn't move well. But I think that's something all rookies have to learn — not just Moses."

Rookie Fly Williams of St. Louis scored 24 points, 16 in the final quarter. And Caldwell chipped in 18 points and seven assists.

Only 3,501 spectators watched the Spirits, who play in the 17,776-seat St. Louis Arena, win their first game since pulling out of Carolina. The travel-weary Stars, 0-3, gladly quit the road.

In the only other games on the ABA schedule Sunday, Kentucky beat Indiana 101-92 and San Diego downed New York 116-110.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Seattle beat Cleveland 100-93 and Kansas City-Omaha topped Los Angeles 105-95.

Kentucky led by Dan Issel's 24 points, held off a late surge by Indiana for the triumph.

"We run our stuff and it just so happened that tonight it went to Issel," said a pleased Hubie Brown, the new Colonels coach. Indiana reserve Billy Knight scored 27 points in the game.

The Q's opened before 6,875 fans in the San Diego Sports Arena, trouncing the Nets with a strong finish.

San Diego's Travis Grant, 44 points, outgunned New York's Julius Erving, 37 points — but only 11 of them in the second half.

Coach Bill Russell of Seattle was pleased with the 31-point performance by Fred Brown, who personally sank Cleveland.

"He's a great shooter," said Russell of Brown, 26, a roaming guard with a keen eye. "When we need the points, he takes over and gets the points."

In Los Angeles, Nate Williams of Kansas City-Omaha sank four decisive baskets early in the fourth period against the Lakers.

It happend after LA, which had trailed by 17 points in the third period, tied the game 76-76 in a futfle comeback effort.

Saturday's ABA scores: Denver 111, New York 103; San Antonio 114, Memphis 94; and Virginia 94, Utah 92.

In the NBA Saturday: Kansas City-Omaha 94, Phoenix 91; Boston 113, Buffalo 95; Philadelphia 99, New York 86; Atlanta 118, Houston 112; Washington 110, New Orleans 92; Chicago 87, Milwaukee 70; Golden State 113, Cleveland 110; and Detroit 122, Portland 99.

Miami easily halts Bowling Green

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer

Things were a little too easy for Miami of Ohio Saturday.

That's the opinion of Coach Dick Crum whose Redskins scored two quick first-quarter touchdowns on their way to a 34-10 football victory over Bowling Green.

Miami's offense suddenly went into hiding for two periods before reemerging in the closing quarter when the Redskins pulled away with 20 fourth period points.

"It was just a case of our getting two touchdowns too easy," Crum said. "I've seen it happen before. I just frankly think our people offense and defense, relaxed and got to thinking it was going to be easier than it was."

The victory enabled Miami of Ohio to run its unbeaten string to 18—they were tied by Purdue earlier this season — and the Redskins are now 2-0 in Mid-American Conference play.

While Miami and Bowling Green were squaring off, all the other MAC teams had nonconference opponents.

Toledo defeated Dayton 38-27, Western Michigan beat Marshall 20-17, Ohio beat Morehead 49-10, and Utah State downed Kent State 27-24.

After Miami's early explosives, led by quarterback Sherman Smith, Bowling Green came back within four points 14-10, in the third quarter. They had a chance to tie the game just before halftime, but failed to capitalize on a first and goal situation on the Miami six-yard line.

If things seemed too easy for Miami Saturday, they probably won't this weekend.

The Redskins put their unbeaten string on the line at Toledo, which has not lost in three conference outings.

"I think that's going to be the decisive game," Crum said. "We're going to have to play better than this."

Toledo quarterback Gene Swick ran for two touchdowns and passed for another as the Rockets soared to a 21-7 halftime lead.

Dayton quarterback Tom Vosberg threw three touchdowns, but was also intercepted three times, boosting his record in that dubious category to 16 so far this season.

Rich Bevly threw Ohio University's first touchdown pass of the season and ran for three other scores against Morehead State.

It was Ohio's biggest point production since 1968 when they outslugged Cincinnati 60-48.

Bevly, a senior from Youngstown, Ohio, passed 34 yards to Cleveland Moutry after his touchdown runs of one, three and ten yards.

Ford's teammates to dine in White House

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Late next month 23 men from points as distant as South Africa will leave their families during the Thanksgiving holiday week and fly to Washington just to have brunch.

But the 11 a.m. meal on Thanksgiving Day is a special occasion for each of them.

The brunch will be held at the White House and it will be the 44th annual gathering of the 30-30 Club, representing those who helped old South High in Grand Rapids to an undefeated football season in 1930.

"I'd mortgage my house if that was the only way I could get the money for this trip," is the way Arthur Brown, the squad's starting left tackle and club secretary, assessed the invitation from an old teammate.

Brown's old teammate is President Gerald Ford, who was the starting center and only player on the squad to make all-state that season.

Despite his national leadership role, Mr. Ford is only the club's vice president and no change is likely this year, Brown said.

Twenty-four players are living and just two have told Brown they cannot attend. Two others still have not replied.

In addition, the team's coach and assistant coach, a former South High School principal and two team managers are invited.

The Thanksgiving gatherings mark the date of the last game the team played as a unit.

Until this year, the annual get-togethers always were held in Grand Rapids, and Ford used to fly back from Washington for them during his 25 years as a congressman from west Michigan.

The White House brunch is limited to members and their wives because "everybody wants to get in the act. Ford's office here says at least 190 persons have told them they played football at South with him," Brown said.

Asked about other events besides the brunch, Brown said he knows of none although most club members intend to spend at least three days in Washington.

Seven of the President's teammates are retired; three work in auto plants; three in real estate; three are educators; two are business executives; one is in the grocery business; one an industrial supervisor; one a salesman; one a sailor, and one a funeral director.

Edward A. Preston, a reserve quarterback, is making the trip from Johannesburg, South Africa, where he is an executive with Lock Joint Pipe Co.

WILLIAM TELL — Mike Smith, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Beryle Smith, 206 Buckeye Road, bagged this eight-point buck in the vicinity of Deer Creek, Thursday afternoon. The occasion will long be remembered by Smith, who has been trying for five years to kill a deer with his 42-pound bow. The buck was estimated to weigh 200 pounds field-dressed. (Record-Herald Photo)

Status quo in Big Ten grid race

It's status quo in the Big Ten football race. Ohio State and Michigan are tied for first place all by themselves — the same way they finished last year when they battled to a deadlock to share the conference crown.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes, who are crushing everybody in sight, trounced Indiana 49-9 while Michigan, taking command in the second half, defeated Wisconsin 24-20 behind the efficiency of quarterback Dennis Franklin.

Illinois slipped out of a first place tie by tying Michigan State 21-21, Purdue posted its first conference triumph with a 31-26 decision over Northwestern and Rick Upchurch ran wild in leading Minnesota to a 23-17 victory over Iowa.

Wisconsin seemingly could be used as the yardstick in measuring the relative strengths of Ohio State and Michigan. The Badgers were swamped by Ohio State 52-7 before their meeting with Michigan.

But Wisconsin Coach John Jardine, refusing to compare the two teams, said "No."

"They're both fine teams," said Jardine. "Ohio State was as fired up for us as anyone has ever been. Whether Michigan was fired up or not, I don't know."

Wisconsin took the game right to Michigan and scored first but the half found them tied 7-7.

Then Franklin took over. He completed five of six passes in the second half, four of them on third downs and flawlessly directed two touchdown drives in the third quarter which decided the game.

Coach Bo Schembechler, who disdains passing, admitted "the pass was important, but we felt we could run on them. We did, too, but there comes a time when you've got to pass on those third down plays."

Bengals lose 30-27 tilt to Raiders

OAKLAND (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals came within eight seconds of ending their losing streak in the Oakland Coliseum before a two-yard desperation dive by running back Charlie Smith turned the game around.

Smith's heroics gave the Oakland Raiders a 30-27 comeback victory over the Bengals Sunday before 51,821 enthusiastic fans.

"Our club has a history of winning games like this," said quarterback Ken Stabler, who drove the Raiders 52 yards to the winning tally.

The victory boosted Oakland to 5-1 and stiffened their lead in the American Football Conference West. It also dropped the Bengals, now 4-2, behind Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

With 1:36 to go and no timeouts, Stabler reeled off three straight first downs on one pass to Fred Biletnikoff and two to tight end Bob Moore.

After two incomplete passes, Stabler hit wide receiver Mike Siani on Cincinnati's one-yard line, setting the stage for Smith.

With 13 seconds left, he took Stabler's handoff, slanted toward right tackle, then cut outside, leaped over a man and fell headlong into the end zone.

It seemed at first that the Bengals might win their first game in the Coliseum when they jumped out to a 14-6 halftime lead.

Few upsets in college action

HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

After four upset-filled weekends, the college football scene returned to normal Saturday ... and in this jumbled season that may be the biggest upset of all.

Only three members of The Associated Press Top Twenty came out losers and two of them bowed to other ranked teams.

Tenth-ranked North Carolina State suffered a 33-14 licking at the hands of unranked arch-rival North Carolina, but No. 9 Arizona was toppled by No. 17 Texas Tech 17-8 and No. 13 Kansas underwent a 56-0 humiliation at the hands of No. 12 Nebraska.

Meanwhile, the runaway 1-2 teams in The AP ratings rolled to easy victories — top-ranked Ohio State crushed Indiana 49-9 while runner-up Oklahoma bombed Colorado 49-14.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Michigan shaded Wisconsin 24-20, No. 4 Alabama trounced Tennessee 28-6, No. 5 Auburn outscored Georgia Tech 31-22, No. 6 Southern California struggled past Oregon 16-7, No. 7 Notre Dame flattened Army 48-0 and No. 8 Texas A&M eased past Texas Christian 17-0.

In the Second Ten, 11th-rated Penn State rallied to beat Syracuse 30-14, No. 14 Florida turned back Florida State 24-14, No. 15 Arizona State whipped Utah 32-0, No. 16 Texas leveled Arkansas 38-7, No. 18 Maryland blanked Wake Forest 47-0, No. 19 Miami of Ohio belted Bowling Green 34-10 and No. 20 Tulane ripped The Citadel 30-3.

It was a weekend of comparisons, although no one has played both Ohio State and Oklahoma. Wisconsin, however, played Ohio State a week ago and was routed 52-7 while making it much closer Saturday against Michigan.

"They're both fine teams," said Coach John Jardine. "Ohio State was as fired up for us as anyone has ever been. Whether Michigan was fired up or not, I don't know."

Colorado has played Oklahoma and Michigan, losing to the latter 31-0 four weeks ago.

"Michigan is a fine team but Oklahoma is better," said Coach Bill Mallory. "If they want to play each other, it's all right with me."

Indiana's Lee Corso and Colorado's Mallory couldn't compare the 1-2 teams directly, but they had some thoughts, anyway.

"This is a national championship caliber team," Corso said after Ohio State's Archie Griffin romped for 146 yards and two touchdowns and became the top ground-gainer in Big Ten history.

It was Griffin's 16th consecutive 100-yard regular-season game, one short of the national record held by Oklahoma's Steve Owens. Griffin also passed the century mark in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, but that doesn't count in the NCAA record book.

Griffin's output boosted his career yardage to 3,321, surpassing the mark of 3,315 set by Purdue's Otis Armstrong a couple of years ago.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma's Joe Washington, a junior like Griffin, rambled for 200 yards and four touchdowns in just 18 carries against Colorado as the Sooners chewed up 594 yards of real estate on the ground.

"There can't be a better team than Oklahoma," said Mallory. "They were awesome. If there's a better back in the country than Washington, I haven't seen him. What moves and balance he's got! Their offense is fabulous. If they play like they played against us, I don't see anyone beating them."

Michigan's Dennis Franklin threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Greg DenBoer to snap a third-period tie against Wisconsin and the Wolverines also got scoring runs from Chuck Heater and Gordon Bell.

Willie Shelby ran 13 and 19 yards for Alabama touchdowns and set up one of Calvin Culliver's two scores with a 41-yard punt return.

Auburn's stingy defense was riddled for 22 points by Georgia Tech but still came up with the big plays. Chuck Jones, a freshman, blocked a punt and ran it 42 yards for a touchdown and recovered a fumble to set up another tally.

One of the 160 yards gained by Southern Cal's Anthony Davis produced a touchdown and Chris Limahelu tacked on three field goals enabling the sluggish Trojans to defeat Oregon.

Fullbacks Wayne Bullock and Russ Kornman split four touchdowns as Notre Dame whipped Army and David Walker completed seven of nine passes for a whopping 220 yards in the Texas Aggies' triumph over TCU. One of them was a screen to Ronnie Hubby, who galloped 60 yards to score.

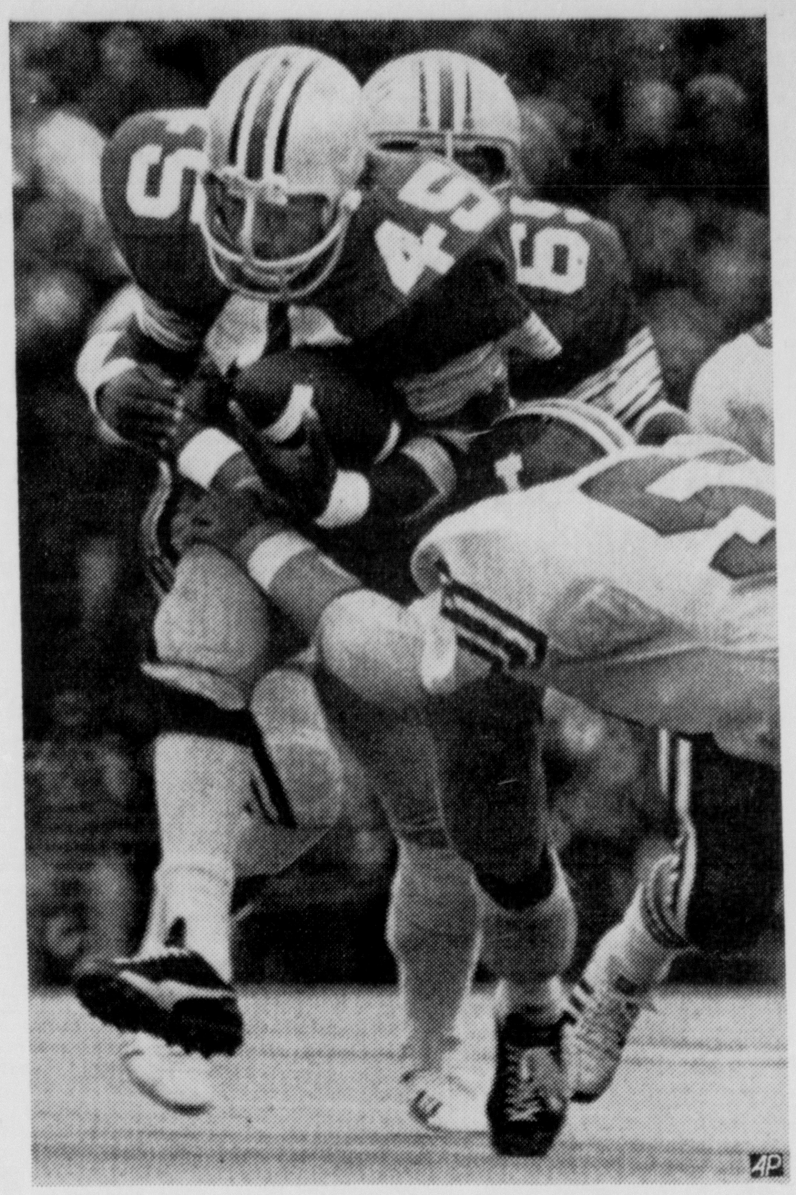
Texas Tech stifled Arizona's high-powered offense, holding the Wildcats to 273 yards, well below their average. Curtis Jordan and Randy Olson came through with key interceptions and the Red Raiders also recovered two Arizona bobbles.

North Carolina scored three times in the first period on runs of 36 yards by Mike Voight, three by Chris Kupec and 10 by Boom-Boom Betterson and in toppling N.C. State.

Penn State's Tom Shuman ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third against Syracuse; Nebraska's Dave Humm fairly sizzled with 23 completions in 27 tosses — including 15 in a row — for 230 yards and three scores against Kansas; Florida came from behind in the final period to down Florida State on a 63-yard touchdown pass from Don Gaffney to Alvis Darby and Tony Green's 12-yard run.

Arizona State freshman Dennis Sproul threw a pair of scoring passes as the Sun Devils trounced Utah; another rookie, Texas fullback Earl Campbell, gained 109 yards on just eight rushes, one of them a 68-yard touchdown gallop, in the Longhorns' rout of Arkansas; Bob Avellini passed for 157 yards and two touchdowns as Maryland stomped Wake Forest, which has lost its last four games by 196-0.

Ron Carpenter tallied twice as Miami of Ohio whipped Bowling Green and Steve Foley rushed for 142 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown, as Tulane sank The Citadel.



SETS RUSHING RECORD — Ohio State's Archie Griffin (45) became the greatest rusher in Big 10 history when he picked up 146 yards during the Ohio State Buckeyes' 49-9 victory over Indiana. Griffin, a junior tailback, has 3,321 yards which is six more than the previous Big 10 rushing leader, Otis Armstrong of Purdue, had.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Woody Hayes is coming close to calling his top-ranked Ohio State football team his greatest ever.

"This team can do some things the others couldn't," he said after the Big Ten coleaders hammered visiting Indiana 49-9 Saturday.

Then is this squad better than his unbeaten powers of 1954 and 1968?

"Now, I'll tell you that in five games. But up to now, this is the most versatile I've ever had," Hayes added.

The Ohio State coach is delaying his assessment for five weeks. That's the regular season finale with third-ranked Michigan, almost certain to be for the conference championship again. The Buckeyes and Wolverines share the Big Ten lead with 3-0-0 records.

Once more the 6-0-0 Buckeyes showed off their varied attack, crushing the 1-5-0 Hoosiers with 333 yards rushing and another 235 through the air. Indiana mannaged 266 total yards.

"We really learned a lot," Indiana Coach Lee Corso said.

"They (Ohio State) play fair and honest. They've got class. This is a national championship caliber team. I haven't seen anyone better," he added.

"We're young and they're terrific," Corso said.

Hayes admitted an early bid by Archie Griffin to become the Big Ten's champion career rusher for all games was "loused" up by big plays by teammates.

"(Cornelius) Greene loused one play up," Hayes said. "He's only supposed to get a first down. So he runs 30 yards to the Indiana six. Then another time he calls a pass and throws a (53-yard) touchdown to (Dave) Hazel."

Hayes ordered his first offense into action one more time early in the fourth quarter.

"They went out on the field and Arch was going to run until he got the record," the Ohio State coach explained.

Griffin bagged the record on the first play. In all, he rushed for 146 yards and two touchdowns, running his career total to 3,321 yards, six more than Otis Armstrong of Purdue had in 1970-72.

Griffin and Greene combined for 446 total yards and figured in five touchdowns, forcing Corso to call them super athletes.

"What can you say about Griffin that hasn't already been said?" asked Corso.

The Indiana coach said of Greene, "He adds new dimension to their offense. He can get through holes that are not even diagrammed on the blackboard."

In other Ohio college football action, Miami extended its unbeaten string to 18 games and improved its Mid-American Conference record to 2-0 by whipping Bowling Green 34-10.

That set up a crucial conference clash next weekend between the Redskins and the Toledo Rockets, who share the top spot in the MAC standings with a 3-0 mark. Toledo and all the other MAC teams played outside the league Saturday.

Miami, despite an offensive lag in the second and third quarters, had little trouble in beating the Falcons. Quarterback Sherman Smith rushed for 109 yards and one touchdown as Miami jumped ahead 14-0, saw the lead dwindle to 14-10, and then scored 20 points in the final period.

Toledo lifted its overall record to 4-2 by rolling over Dayton 38-27. The Rockets took an early lead on quarterback Gene Swick's pass to Don Seymour in the end zone and touchdown runs by Swick of three and 18 yards.

Utah State edged Kent State 27-24 on Al Knapp's 42-yard field goal with 1:44 remaining to play.

Ohio University evened its season record at 3-3 by trouncing Morehead State, Ky., 49-10, as quarterback Rich Bevly ran for three touchdowns and passed for another.

Independent Cincinnati swamped Wichita State 43-0 after charging ahead early by turning three pass interceptions into touchdowns.

In Ohio Conference play, Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein remained deadlocked for the Red Division lead with 2-0 marks after victories Saturday.

B-W trounced Heidelberg 35-14 to give Coach Lee Tressel his 100th collegiate coaching triumph. Otterbein downed Muskingum 28-10 as fullback Steve Schnarr piled up 111 yards in 22 carries and scored two touchdowns.

A battle of Red Division cellar-dwellers saw Marietta (1-1) topping Wooster (0-2), 21-13.

Mount Union toppled Capital from first place in the OC Blue Division with a slim 9-7 triumph on Bob Wire's 22-yard field goal in the final period. The victory put Mount Union into a tie for the division lead with Ohio Wesleyan at 1-0. Capital dropped to a 1-0 mark.

Wittenberg and Denison battled to a 10-10 tie in another Blue Division contest. It was the first division game of the season for the Tigers. Denison remains winless in three league starts.

Hoosier-Buckeye Conference action saw leader Hanover, Ind., defeating Findlay 29-15 for its third straight league victory, while Defiance edged Bluffton 15-14 and Wilmington rolled over Manchester, Ind., 31-10.

John Carroll slipped by Case Western Reserve 13-6 in Presidents Conference play, while Hiram and Thiel, Pa., wound up knotted 21-21.

Elsewhere, it was Ashland 28, Fairmont State, W. Va., 7; Ohio Wesleyan 18, Washington University of St. Louis 7; Oberlin 19, Kenyon 17; Westminster, Pa., 21, Ohio Northern 17; Central State 45, Federal City, D.C., 19; Ball State, Ind. 21, Youngstown State 14.

Two shutouts complete Pony season

Needing a victory to tie for the championship of the Pony League, the Big Boys and Dividends each scored shutouts, Saturday evening. The Big Boys blanked the Jaycees 14-0 and the Marksmen were 19-0 victims of the Dividends.

With 10 seconds remaining in the first half, Steve Grooms tossed a 22-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Lower. The conversion came on a pass from Martin Leanerton to Grooms.

In the second half, Grooms scored on a one-yard plunge to seal the win. The Bigs Boys wound up the season with a 3-0-1, while the Jaycees had a season mark of 0-4.

Jon Jon Thomas and Brian Dodds accounted for all of the Dividends' scoring. Dodds opened the scoring with a 27-yard scoring reception from Thomas. Thomas later scored on runs of 13 and four yards. Dodds also tallied the extra point.

The dividends also finished the season with a 3-0-1 record. The Marksmen and the Interns, who had a bye, concluded the year with 1-2-1 marks and tied for third place.

Greenfield woman hurt in crash

A serious collision, in which a Greenfield woman was injured, resulted when Richard L. Bartuff, 23, Greenfield, bent over to pick a stick of chewing gum off the floorboard of the car he was driving at 5:15 p.m. Sunday, on Milledgeville-Octa Road, two-tenths of a mile west of the Ohio 729 intersection.

Bartuff went off the road and collided with a parked car owned by Della Ison, 6787 Milledgeville-Octa Road-NW, knocking it 30 feet through a board fence, also owned by Ms. Ison.

Bartuff showed visible signs of injury at the accident scene and his passenger Rita K. Bartuff, 22, Greenfield, claimed injury. She was later treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital for neck and head pain and then released. Bartuff was not treated.

Sheriff's deputies cited Bartuff for failure to drive on the right half of the road and the Ison auto was demolished in the mishaps and Bartuff's car was severely damaged.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported four more weekend accidents, while the Washington C.H. Police Department reported two weekend accidents.

A sow belonging to James T. Harris, 10678 U.S. 35-NW, was killed when struck by a car driven by Woodrow J. Fraley, 48, Miamisburg, at 7:35 p.m. Saturday.

Sheriff's deputies reported the sow wandered out onto U.S. 35, near the Ohio 729 intersection in front of Fraley's auto, which incurred moderate damage from the mishap.

Cars driven by Donald J. Boyd, 55, Dayton, and Robert E. Lowe, 27, of Ohio 41-S, collided at the intersection of U.S. 22-E, and Stuckey Road, at 1:39 p.m. Saturday, and incurred severe damage, sheriff's deputies reported.

Lowe was cited for failure to yield right of way and no operator's license. There were no injuries.

Seven rods of fence owned by the William Campbell trust in Union Township were damaged by a hit-skip driver sometime Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The unidentified driver traveled off Rowe-Ging Road, into the ditch and then struck the fence, ran back across the ditch and then back onto the road.

A second hit-skip accident resulted in a damaged tree and sod in the front yard of the Eldon E. McBee residence at 19 State St., in Jeffersonville. Sheriff's deputies reported the mishap at 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

An East Monroe woman was injured in a three-car collision on Court Street, 20 feet west of the North Street intersection, at 4:33 p.m. Sunday, city police reported.

The woman, Lora F. Young, 20, had been a passenger in a car driven by Wilbur E. Young, 21, also from East Monroe, whose car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Judy M. Heikes, 28, Kettering. The impact caused Young's auto to lurk forward and strike the car in front of his, driven by Carolyn M. Wheeler, 38, of 1120 Yeoman St.

Ms. Young was the only injury and she was treated for neck pain at Fayette Memorial Hospital and then released. Ms. Heikes was cited by police for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

A car driven by Dr. Marvin H. Roszmann, 59, Rt. 3, was struck by an unidentified driver in the 100 block of E. Temple Street, at 6:42 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

An oncoming auto traveled left of center, collided with the Roszmann car, doing moderate damage and then drove off. Dr. Roszmann was unhurt.

Police report three local boys attacked

Three Washington C.H. youths were attacked by older boys who shot BB guns at them and beat one of them up, Washington C.H. police reported.

The boys, Steve and Scott Ranson of 407 Broadway St., and Rick Montoya of 332 Cherry St., had been playing in the Sycamore Street area rear the railroad tressel, when Steve and Rick were hit in the arms by BB shot and then confronted by their assailants, one of which, punched Steve in the mouth and stomach.

Police are investigating the incident.

Other offense reports released by police dealt with a breaking and entering, larceny and an indecent exposure incident. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported two larcenies, a vandalism incident, a dog bite and an ill person.

A bicycle belonging to Larry Baker, 505 E. Temple St., was taken from a garage owned by Mrs. Norma See, 503 E. Temple St., sometime between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 2 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

The persons responsible for the theft broke into the garage by prying the hasp off the door.

A bicycle belonging to Randy Webb, 520 N. North St., was removed from the rear of 617 Eastern Ave., sometime between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday, police reported. However, it was returned by whomever borrowed it around 6:10 p.m.

Ronald K. Brown, 35, Wellston, was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital after complaining of chest pains and shortness of breath at 6:53 a.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported. He is presently reported in satisfactory condition by hospital officials.

Wellston became ill while driving his semi-tractor-trailer truck at the intersection of U.S. 35 and Ohio 729. He radioed for help over his citizen's band transmitter and Sheriff's Deputy Don Cox was dispatched to the scene. Wellston was taken to the hospital by Morrow's ambulance service.

Gary Rowland, 27, of 1036 Snow Hill Rd., was bitten by a dog on the lips, at the Richard Wilson residence in New Martinsburg, at 4 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

A man indecently exposed himself to two Washington C.H. girls, ages 9 and 12, from his automobile at 1 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

The incident occurred on Blackstone Avenue, between Temple Street and Columbus Avenue and the man reportedly followed the girls with his car down an alley until coming to the Food World store at which time he drove away. Police are investigating.

A car, belonging to Mary Denen, 128 E. Paint St., was vandalized Friday night during the Washington C.H.-Bishop Wehrle football game at Gardner Park. The auto, which was parked in Sollars Brothers Co. parking lot on S. Main Street, was entered by someone who removed a chrome hand-operated spotlight valued at $18, the car cigarette lighter valued at $5 and both radio knobs valued at $4, police reported.

A bowling ball valued at $35 and owned by Dennis Cotner, 729 Sycamore St., was stolen from Bowland, CCC-Highway-W, sometime between 12 a.m. Thursday and 10:30 p.m. Saturday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

An unidentified driver purchased $4.15 worth of gasoline at Stop 35, I-71 and U.S. 35, at 4:50 a.m. Sunday and then drove off without paying for the purchase, sheriff's deputies reported.

A window at the Larry J. Huffman residence, U.S. 62-S, was broken with a blunt instrument sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported. No entry into the Huffman home was made.

Jury being selected for Kent State trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Jury selection for the trial of eight former Ohio National Guard members accused of civil rights violations in the campus gunfire that killed four and wounded nine students four years ago begins today in U.S. District Court.

Court officials summoned 125 prospective jurors to appear this morning and said more would be called if the venire is exhausted before a jury is seated.

Chief Judge Frank J. Battisti, presiding over the Kent State trial, clamped the lid on pretrial speculation by ordering attorneys and principals not to discuss the case with reporters.

The trial could last several weeks.

Both government and defense have lists of 150 potential witnesses for each side. Attorneys indicated they did not expect to call all of them. One attorney estimated the total number of witnesses called to the stand would number about 100.

After nearly three months investigating the Kent State tragedy, a federal grand jury indicted the eight former guardsmen last March 29.

The indictment charged they violated the civil rights of the 13 students killed or wounded in a 13-second gunfire burst May 4, 1970, during a confrontation with demonstrators protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

The indictment named Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, and James D. McGee, 27, both of Ravenna, Ohio; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton, Ohio; James E. Pierce, 29, Amelia Island, Fla.; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua, Ohio; Barry W. Morris, 29, Kent, Ohio; Mathew J. McManus, 28, West Salem, Ohio, and Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City, Ohio.

These men were charged with willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators by firing weapons in their direction and violating their constitutional rights.

Convictions could bring a $1,000 fine and prison terms up to life.

The Ohio National Guard went into Kent State May 2, 1970, on order of former Gov. James A. Rhodes. The student antiwar demonstration had resulted in the burning of the Army Reserve Training Corps building on the state school's campus.

More tapes to be heard

John Dean returns to witness stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disconsolate President Nixon discussing options for "stonewalling" Watergate investigations was heard by the Watergate cover-up jury on tape today as John Dean was on the stand for the fourth day.

"It's a long road, isn't it, for all of us, for all of us," Nixon said at one point. "I mean, what the hell are you going to do?"

The discussion occurred on March 21, 1973 — on the afternoon of the day when Dean, the White House counsel, had laid out for the President the names of White House people who were vulnerable to indictment.

They discussed setting up a presidential panel to gather evidence or sending White House people to the grand jury under a grant of immunity so they could not be charged.

Two of the defendants in the trial, John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, participated in the afternoon discussion. Ehrlichman pressed the President to have Dean put on a report that Nixon then could send to the Senate investigation then under way.

Discussing that idea, Nixon says: "I ask for a written report ... which is very general, understand?"

"Understand," the President repeats and laughs, adding: "I don't want to get all that Goddamned specific. I'm thinking now in far more general terms ...

"If you make it quite general in terms of ... your investigation indicates that this man did not do it ... this man did do that."

Ehrlichman suggests that if that idea is adopted, "to give some weight to that, could you attach as an appendix a list of the FBI reports to which you had access ... so that the President at some later time is in a position to say 'I relied.'"

Ehrlichman said then that if there were further disclosures, Nixon would be in a stronger position to say that he justifiably relied on Dean's report.

A few days later, Dean went to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., but failed to write a report.

Instead, he later hired an attorney and began telling the Watergate story to federal prosecutors.

Nixon then appointed Ehrlichman to write the report. In a public statement

In Florida fishing mishap

Former resident believed drowned

BELLVIEW, Fla. — Paul Detty, 47, formerly of Washington C.H., is believed to have drowned Sunday afternoon while fishing in Lake Weir, south of Ocala, Fla., in Marion County.

Sheriff's deputies have been dragging the lake since the incident was reported, but as yet no body has been found. According to the Marion County Sheriff's Department, Detty had been fishing from a boat on the large inland lake which is about 10 miles south of his home in Bellview.

Since the matter is still under investigation, deputies were unable to release any details of the information they had. They said only that they had been contacted by a man who said Detty had fallen from the boat into the lake.

DETTY WAS born Aug. 2, 1927 in Chillicothe to the Rev. and Mrs. C.H. Detty, 426 Sixth St. The family moved to Washington C.H. a short time later, and Paul attended elementary school and high school here.

He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and accompanied Admiral Richard E. Byrd on the U.S.S. Bronson for the first voyage to the South Pole in 1946.

He received a medical discharge from the Navy and took up residence in New Jersey and Pennsylvania before returning to Washington C.H. some five years ago.

While in residing here, he was a member of the Washington C.H. Eagles Lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

He moved to Bellview, Fla., a year ago.

Home completely destroyed

Four hurt in rural blaze

Four area persons were injured during a fire at a Snow Hill Road residence southwest of Washington C.H. early Sunday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies said Jeffrey L. Pollock, 21, of 2618 Snow Hill Road, and William M. Smith, 21, of 2618 Snow Hill Road, tenants of the concrete block residence; Tim J. Murphy, 18, of Leesburg, and Richard L. Williams, 20, of 124 E. Paint St., were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns following the blaze which occurred at 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS said Pollock and Smith were treated for burns of the face and hands and Williams was treated for burns of the hands and right forehead.

All were released following treatment. Murphy was not treated.

Washington C.H. Fire Department Lt. Richard Reed reported the fire was caused when sparks from the fireplace ignited a chair while the four men were sleeping.

Firemen, who were on the scene from 3:50 a.m. until 6:15 a.m. Sunday, extinguished the blaze with water.

The home, owned by Robert E. Lewis, CCC Highway-E, and valued at $10,000, was completely destroyed, firemen reported.

Two additional fires were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department and Washington C.H. firemen extinguished an auto fire.

A car belonging to Norbert Kent, 920 Dayton Ave., caught fire when it backfired through the carburetor at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, in front of 302 E. Court St., Washington C.H. firemen reported.

They extinguished the fire by smothering it with a coat and then hosing down the engine with water. Damage was estimated at $25.

The Jeffersonville Fire Department responded to a furnace fire at the Royal Castle Restaurant at the intersection of I-71 and U.S. 35.

THE FIRE, which broke out at 3:49 a.m. Sunday, caused minor damage, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

The Bloomingburg Fire Department was summoned to the intersection of Midland Avenue and Wayne Street in Bloomingburg at 1:50 a.m. Sunday, when an electrical power line blew down.

Firemen and Fayette County Sheriff's Deputies kept traffic and people away from the live wire, until Dayton Power and Light Co. workers repaired the wire. There was no damage.

Ford takes Truman-like stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has been told by close associates that he sounds like a Harry S. Truman on the campaign trail. And if Ford hasn't given Democrats much hell yet, he's trying.

Facing heavy odds in attempting to resist an erosion of Republican strength in Congress, Ford is using more strident, more Truman-like rhetoric as the campaign progresses.

Apparently by design, Ford became increasingly partisan last week as he jetted into seven states on behalf of Republican candidates. The change in approach produced a presidential decision Saturday to abandon prepared texts and, as he put it, "talk heart-to-heart, straight-to-straight."

Ford seemingly wanted to say, "straight from the shoulder," but couldn't remember the cliche soon enough — one of the perils of impromptu speechmaking.

But without a text, Ford tends to toughen up his language as he makes his big pitch: Elect Republicans or a Democratic veto-proof Congress of big-spending budget-busters will produce a legislative dictatorship.

Here's a typical sample from a Saturday-night speech in Louisville, Ky.

"Let me put it just as bluntly as I can. If you get a veto-proof Congress, boy, tighten your seatbelts. You are going right through the roof of the United States Capitol as far as the federal treasury is concerned ... The keys to the treasury will be thrown away and the money will pour out unbelievably."

The results of Ford's campaigning to date have been mixed, although he told reporters Saturday, "I've really been encouraged ... I loved those crowds."

The President's audiences, even when sizeable, often have seemed more curious than enthusiastic. And sometimes they've been small. For example:

—No more than 4,000 turned out Saturday in a Louisville hall that seats 18,000, despite a telephone blitz and local radio advertising.

—Airport rallies at Lincoln, Neb., and Greensboro, N.C., drew barely 2,000 each and a fund-raising box luncheon at Greenville, S.C., attracted but 300, who sat surrounded by tiers of empty seats.

To balance off such disappointments, Ford can point to much bigger, noisier receptions in Sioux Falls, S.D., Indianapolis and Anderson, S.C.

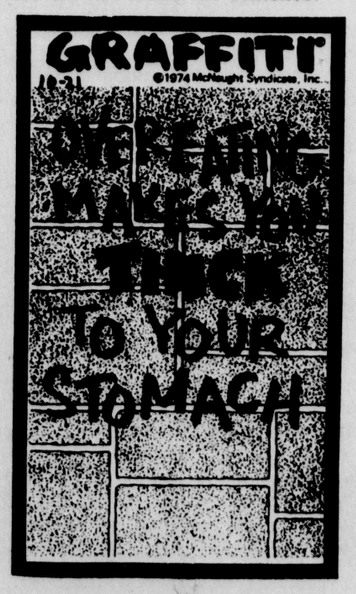
Voter apathy in Watergate's wake may be the reason why Ford has yet to attract crowds as large and enthusiastic as those that customarily welcomed other presidents in recent decades.

Ford never professes to believe his efforts could do more than help cut Republican losses in the November balloting. But he has told reporters his personal involvement in the campaign is important, even if it presents risks for his presidential prestige.

"If I don't do anything and we lose," he asserted, "Republicans in the House would say, 'he didn't even try.'

"At least I tried, and if the results are better than the polls say ..."

He did not finish the sentence.



Weather watcher unprepared for county's early snowfall

No one was more surprised by Saturday's snowfall than Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C.H. weather observer. Stookey had not yet even contemplated making the annual changeover to winter weather equipment.

He said he doesn't usually make the change until mid-November and wasn't prepared to measure snowfall.

Stookey does feel that his calculation of just under one-third of an inch of precipitation over the weekend is fairly accurate, and said that it was the earliest date that he recalls for measurable amounts of snow.

"SURE WE'VE had little flurries this early in the year, but not enough to accumulate — not an inch and a half," he said.

The three consecutive days of frost came as quite a surprise to him. A few hours in the morning is not to uncommon, but the extended time of such cold temperatures is very unusual, according to the local weather watcher.

On the brighter side, Stookey said that area residents can rejoice that the snow came early. "If it had been colder, say zero degrees, that amount of water would have produced about three inches of snow," he stated.

He explained that the snow was wet and packed down, if it had been colder, the snow would have been "very puffy and would have been twice as deep."

The wet condition of the snow did make some roads rather slippery and the Ohio Department of Transportation garage had three salt trucks in operation Saturday night.

Glenn blasts Perk 'lies'

By The Associated Press

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn has accused his Republican opponent, Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, of telling the "most scurrilous, malicious kind of lies" in a desperate attempt to bolster his campaign.

Glenn, in an interview Sunday, challenged Perk to prove his charges or "apologize to the people of Ohio for misleading them.

"That's a challenge he can't take up because he knows he can't prove any of the things he's putting out," Glenn said.

The former astronaut referred to a statement put out by Perk Saturday after warrants were issued for a former Glenn campaign aide on bad check charges.

Perk called the check case a "scandal" and charged Glenn with a "Watergate-type coverup." He claimed some of the bogus checks were "redeemed with Glenn campaign money in order to cover up these alleged criminal activities."

Glenn said Sunday the man named in the warrants, Louis Quintero, got no money from the Glenn campaign and contributed no money to it. He said his staff advised people who thought they were bilked out of money to report it to the police.

Perk claimed that Glenn learned of Quintero's activities in September, but didn't tell authorities.

Stephen J. Kovacik, Glenn's campaign manager, said Quintero volunteered his services in April, representing himself as a public relations consultant.

He said Quintero opened offices in Spanish speaking sections of Youngstown, Cleveland and Toledo, but his activities apparently ceased in the middle of August.

Kovacik said Quintero was told in a telegram from Glenn's staff Sept. 25 that he was "to have nothing more to do with the Glenn campaign."

Quintero reportedly is wanted in connection with the writing of bad checks totaling as much as $65,000, allegedly for repayment of loans he obtained in the name of the Democratic nominee.

In other political developments, the Columbus Dispatch reported Sunday the latest results of its voting machine poll show incumbent Democratic Gov. John Gilligan and his Republican challenger James Rhodes locked in a dead heat going into the final two weeks of the campaign.

Meanwhile, Rhodes said in campaign stops Sunday that thousands of Ohio school children must walk to school this winter rather than ride buses because of the administration's "adamant refusal to adequately fund Ohio's schools."

Rhodes also said a large number of school districts are operating on split session and at least seven districts are preparing to close for the same reason.

Daylight Time ends Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten straight months of Daylight Saving Time will end Sunday when the nation goes on standard time for the four winter months.

The nation will set back its clocks one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday, the result of congressional action that ended the nation's experiment with year-round daylight time.

Under the new legislation, the nation will stay on standard time until 2 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 23, 1975.

The year-round daylight time experiment was designed to save fuel during the country's energy shortage. The Senate Commerce Committee reported the experiment resulted in about 100,000 barrels of oil per day being saved during the first four months of 1974.

However, that committee said such savings "must be balanced against a majority of the public's distaste for the observance of Daylight Saving Time" during the winter.

The Department of Transportation agreed that some fuel was saved during the winter months but said longer daylight hours may have increased gasoline consumption in March and April by up to one per cent.

The change will not affect eastern Indiana, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa, all of which remained on standard time during the experiment.

Special prosecutor's office quietly winding up affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — With attention focused on the Watergate cover-up trial, the special prosecutor's office is quietly winding up its business and preparing to close its doors next spring.

Additional charges probably will be brought, particularly for violations of campaign contribution laws, and there will be a final report, but the cover-up trial clearly represents the climax of the work of the unique office created to deal with the Watergate scandal.

Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski has submitted his resignation, effective Friday. In his letter to Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, Jaworski said he felt the major work of his office had been completed.

In addition, sources within his office have indicated that most of the investigations under way are close to completion.

There had been some discussion within the prosecutor's office months ago about winding up everything but the campaign contribution law investigations.

The award of ambassadorships in return for large contributions, the possibility that Nixon fund raisers had used tactics that would be regarded as extortion, and still other corporate contributions were considered areas that might require another year of investigation.

But for reasons still not clear, the probes are being wound up much more quickly.

Since Archibald Cox built the staff in May 1973, the special prosecutors have brought charges against 44 individuals and 15 corporations.

The individuals include former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, men who wielded unequalled and unquestioned power during the first Nixon administration. All three are defendants in the cover-up case.

Ehrlichman already has been convicted of violating the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, a charge stemming from his supervision of the so-called White House plumbers unit.

Jaworski is leaving the prosecutor's office with his reputation enhanced.

Whether it remains unblemished will depend in part on the outcome of the cover-up trial and the final report his office is obligated to submit to the American people.

Jaworski already has said he could not include all his office learned about Nixon's Watergate role now that President Ford has barred bringing charges against the former President.

But he left one possibility open: he invited Congress to expand his mandate, to require that the final report include the full story of Watergate

Extortionist blasts 11 power towers

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — State, local and federal authorities have begun preparations to counter possible power blackouts in case an extortionist carries out his threat to dynamite more transmission line towers in the Portland area.

Bonneville Power Administration officials, area police and the FBI reviewed emergency plans Sunday after the power administration refused to pay a $1 million ransom demanded in an extortion letter.

Officials from area military installations and the Oregon National Guard were briefed on the situation.

Portland General Electric Co. and Pacific Power and Light, major city-based utilities, fired up reserve combustion-powered and steam plants to provide extra elctricity if needed.

City officials asked for approval to order overtime shifts for workers already converting a civil defense shelter into a communications center for emergency services.

"What we probably face is an outage where the entire area might be totally without power for a few hours up to a day or two," said power administrator Don Hodel.

Since Sept. 26, 11 transmission towers have been dynamited in the Portland area, eight of them within the past week. Three of the towers were toppled, with damage estimated at $250,000, and unexploded devices were found attached to several other towers.

The Bonneville Power Administration supplies electricity to all city utilities.

There are 750,000 residents in the Portland area. Hodel said if more transmission towers are damaged, emergency measures could be required that would result in blackouts that would last 16 hours a day until towers were repaired.

A letter addressed to the administration arrived at the Portland FBI office Friday. It demanded $1 million and was signed "J. Hawker," which authorities interpret as a variation of the term "Jayhawker" used to describe guerrillas and looters after the Civil War.

The letter said in part: "The extent of damages resulting from the demolition of five of your power line towers Wednesday night is incidental. Our intent is to either collect $1 million or to make you people wish to hell we had."

Hodel said he believed the only motive of the extortionist is money. "There are no political overtones to the letter," he said.

The extortionist set no deadline for complying with the demand but told the power administration to show it was ready to pay by placing classified ads in three newspapers, two of them in California.

on April 17, Nixon said that in the March 21 conversation new facts were brought to his attention which prompted him to begin a new investigation.

The tape was introduced and played for the jury after Dean told of an unrecorded conversation with Haldeman and Ehrlichman outside of the President's office in which he said there were two alternatives.

"One was to let it go all the way, to let it unravel," Dean told the jury. "One was to draw wagons around the White House."

Questioned by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica about what that meant, Dean said it was "a sort of cowboy-and-Indian phrase — drawing the wagons around would be to protect everyone inside from the people on the outside."

He said Ehrlichman and Haldeman would be included among those who would be protected.

"Would Mitchell be inside the wagon?" asked prosecutor James F. Neal, referring to a third defendant in the trial, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

"No, sir," Dean said.

Later in the taped conversation, which lasted 41 minutes, Ehrlichman suggested that Mitchell "step out" and say that he had done some investigation at the re-election committee which he headed and found that some people had violated the law.

Rhodes wins Enquirer endorsement

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Former Gov. James A. Rhodes was endorsed for the Ohio gubernatorial race Sunday by The Cincinnati Enquirer.

The newspaper, on its Sunday editorial page, said it backed Rhodes because of the achievements made in education and industrial development during his two terms.

The Enquirer said the Republican candidate, who is facing Democrat John J. Gilligan, "is more correctly attuned to Ohio's needs and its people's aspirations."

The endorsement contained praise for Gilligan's successes during the past four years, but credited Rhodes for major advances in a wide range of areas.

"Ohio blazed many trails during the Rhodes years—in historic preservation, in highway safety, in corrections and mental health, in industrial safety, in public works, in urban affairs," it said.

The editorial said Rhodes was responsible during his eight years as governor—from 1963 to 1971—for investing more state operating money in elementary and secondary education "than all the governors from 1915 to 1963."

Industrial development, the newspaper said, resulted in "Ohio leading the nation in the expansion of commercial and industrial facilities" and the attraction of $13 billion in new capital investment.

The editorial said the development program was responsible for providing 750,000 more jobs in the state during Rhodes' two terms.

Fights hit Boston school

BOSTON (AP) — Racial fighting broke out this morning inside a newly integrated high school in South Boston as city schools entered their sixth full week under a court-ordered busing plan.

Fistfights erupted during an assembly at the Hart-Dean School, an annex to formerly all-white South Boston High School, and several white pupils walked out of the building, a police spokesman said.

There were no arrests or injuries, the spokesman said.

Stock list takes dip

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices slipped marginally lower in slow trading today, as companies reported third-quarter earnings and several commercial banks announced cuts in their prime rates.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.56 at 653.32, recovering from earlier lows when the index was down almost 4 points.

Earnings reports for a number of companies fell short of year-earlier levels during the third quarter and indicated further softening of the economy, brokers said.

Still, they noted, investors were heartened by continued declines in short-term interest rates. Several large banks announced prime-rate cuts today to 11¼ per cent and 11½ per cent last week.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was off .08 at 68.09.

Declines edged advances 586 to 511 among 1,514 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, whose broad-based index sagged .09 to 37.99.

Transamerica Corp. topped the Big Board's volume list, steady at 5⅝.

Ford Motor, which disclosed various cost-cutting measures today, fell 1⅝ to 33¾.

Imperial Oil A was the most active Amex issue, down ⅛ at 27⅞.

Bids received for cruisers

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners received bids Monday morning for two sheriff cruisers, but chairman J. Herbert Perrill said final action may be delayed until a later date.

The action may be postponed due to unfinished business with the insurance company, according to Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson.

Other matters scheduled for the commissioners will be a discussion of the Rattlesnake watershed problems at a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday of the Rattlesnake Steering Committee, to be held in the Soil Conservation Services office.

Friday, the commissioners, along with Fayette County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will travel to Xenia for a joint session with the Greene County commissioners and the public for a final hearing on the Grassy Branch ditch, which has been continued several times.

President defends Rocky nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is standing by his nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller, declaring, "I'm still convinced he would make a good vice president."

Ford, fielding questions from five newsmen aboard Air Force One late Saturday, was asked whether any conservative Republicans had urged him to withdraw the increasingly controversial nomination.

"I wouldn't say anybody seriously," the President responded, implying that such advice had been received.

Standing in shirtsleeves in the aisle of the plane as it brought him home from a campaign trip to Louisville, Ky., Ford held what amounted to an informal news conference.

Ford said he expected Rockefeller's nomination to be confirmed before the President's planned trip to Japan next month. This would seem to be out of the question since Ford tentatively plans to leave the country Nov. 17 and Congress does not return from its election recess until the following day.

Meanwhile, Rockefeller was described by a prominent Senate Democrat as "a man who has great experience, tremendous ability."

The comment came from Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who said in an interview Sunday on the CBS program "Face the Nation" that he still planned to vote for Rockefeller's confirmation despite the recent financial disclosures.

Byrd said, however, that he was glad that the Senate would not be voting immediately on the nomination because "there are many questions that remain to be answered." He said the Rockefeller gifts and loans raise a more serious question than the back taxes.

In New York Sunday, Rockefeller said through spokesman Hugh Morrow that he gave Henry A. Kissinger $50,000 to enable Kissinger to join the Nixon administration as head of the National Security Council.

And, Rockefeller was quoted in an interview in Time magazine as saying that Kissinger was concerned about earning less in Washington than he had been, because "he had just got divorced and had responsibilities to his children and to his former wife.

"I urged him to take the job. He didn't want it. Okay, so I helped him out.

"He put the money in trust for his children. What's more human than that," Rockefeller said.

In the interview, Rockefeller described the gifts he gave to former associates and friends as "a great American tradition."

Morrow also said that a story in Newsweek magazine about Rockefeller backing a book called "Barry Goldwater: A Political Indictment" was "a complete phony."

He said Rockefeller had nothing to do with the book, written by a onetime Rockefeller campaign worker, Edward Paul Mattar III of Buffalo.

U.S. may provide grain to India under program

WASHINGTON (AP) — While cutting back grain sales to Russia, the United States soon may provide grain to India under a new Food for Peace agreement.

Andrew J. Mair, coordinator of Food for Peace in the State Department, said he is certain a grain agreement with India is coming up, but doesn't know how much the U.S. will supply. The agreement may be worked out during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to India later this month.

Calling the subject "a very sensitive thing with them," a top Agriculture Department official added: "We're reluctant to say that they have asked for aid because they are reluctant to say so."

India could buy grain and other commodities and have as long as 40 years to pay, with no payments for the first 10 years, under a Food for Peace agreement.

The Soviet Union tried to buy 3.2 million tons of U.S. grain recently, but the shipment was halted by President Ford Oct. 5 because of smaller U.S. harvests blamed on spring floods, summer droughts and autumn freezes.

But Treasury Secretary William E. Simon announced Saturday that the Soviets will be allowed to acquire one million tons of corn and 1.2 million tons of wheat. They agreed to make no further purchases in the U.S. market this crop year, which ends next summer.

The Soviet Union has been a major foreign supplier of wheat to India the past year, providing more than 1.8 million metric tons of wheat, according to USDA figures.

India's wheat production is down, with the crop last spring estimated at 22.5 million tons compared with 24.9 million in 1973.

At the same time, the U.S. wheat reserve may be only 218 million bushels by next summer, the lowest since 1948.

India has not received Food for Peace aid since before its war with Pakistan almost three years ago. It got 1.5 million metric tons of wheat worth $98.7 million under the last agreement, which expired June 30, 1971.

India imported about 3.6 million metric tons of wheat during the 1973-74 fiscal year, including 1.5 million from the United States.

Thank You . . .

We wish to thank Dr. Payton, Fayette Memorial Hospital, Morrow Funeral Home and Rev. Doorneweerd for his consoling words.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service tonight is airing "Drink, Drank, Drunk," a one-hour look at the lush life. It's must-see viewing for anyone concerned about the major disease called alcoholism.

Produced by WQED in Pittsburgh and hosted by Carol Burnett, its main emphasis is on helping families and employers of problem drinkers spot the symptoms of alcoholics and suggesting how to best cope with alcoholics.

But the heavy boozer might also do well to watch it, if only for a very funny, yet razorsharp sketch about an alcoholic and his nondrinking, nagging wife. It was written by the husband-and-wife team of Joe Bologna and Renee Taylor.

They're contestants in a game show, "You Waste Your Life," in which the ceaselessly cheery m.c. (Ron Carey) notes the game is played for high stakes: "You can lose your wife, your family, your house, your self-respect and your drapes."

Contestant Bologna, beary-eyed and in a bathrobe, tells about himself this way: "Well, when I started drinking, I was a Supreme Court Justice. Then I landed a fascinating job cleaning rugs, and now I'm semi-retired and living off my mother's savings."

Points in the game are scored by the back-and-forth psychological tactics common in situations of this kind: Lies by the drunk, nagging by the wife, remorse, hate, forgiveness, rage and so on.

At one point she threatens to leave if he touches the gargle again, adding, "I'm taking all the furniture and your Mantovani records and I'm turning the children against you...."

It's highly effective, as is a serious, albeit occasionally propagandizing minidrama in which Larry Blyden plays the frustrated, uncomprehending husband of a drunk, she portrayed by Ellen Madison.

Over-all, the program, its production and promotion financed by a grant from the 3M Company, is an hour well spent.

You might ask why Carol Burnett agreed to host the show. She answers the question in unflinching terms in the opening segment: "My parents died when they were 46 years old because they were drunks."

No rapid transit seen for cities

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary studies indicate cities the size of Cincinnati and Indianapolis cannot expect to see the development of rapid transit systems in the near future, a transportation planner told a tri-state conference here over the weekend.

Richard Bourque, assistant director of transportation planning for the Ohio-Kentucky-Indiana Regional Planning Authority (OKI), made the remarks during a keynote address on long-range planning.

Each such system would cost approximately $2 billion, Bourque said, noting that the federal government has not indicated support for funding on such a massive scale.

Opinion And Comment

THESE DAYS . . . . By John Chamberlain

Fiddling while the world burns

One gets a most fantastic perspective on America from almost any capital in Western Europe. Depending, as one must for news, on the Paris Herald-Tribune, which is the international extension of the New York Times and the Washington Post, the picture that one receives from across the Atlantic is of a nation that is bewitched by watching a band of hungry press dogs ringed around the White House, waiting for bones.

If a bone comes out with some liberal meat or even gristle attached to it, all is well for the moment. But if there is any deviation in expectations, the dogs yap together on signal that the skies are falling.

It would not matter much if it were not for the fact that the editorial page of the Paris Herald-Tribune is almost 100 per cent dominated by what does or does not happen in the White House Oval Room in relation to a handful of columnists and reporters who entertain a most marked similarity of philosophy. Really, one is forced to ask, is the only dissenting voice in American that of Bill Buckley, who is offered to Europe as the sole oppositional offset to a score of newsmen and commentators who think Bill is slightly odd while all other conservatives are just plumb crazy?

The Ford pardon of Nixon dominated the commentary during the three weeks I was abroad. This was certainly a bone without liberal meat. True enough, there was a logical ambiguity to a pardon that covered unspecified sins that may or may not have been committed. But really, will the world come to an end if the Nixon haters are to be denied a show trial?

The man is out of the Whie House, he has confessed to taking part in a cover-up that had the effect of delaying justice (no great sin in my opinion, for Watergate was little more than a series of panty-raids), and his good work in the cause of peace (or at least so we must hope) is being continued by his appointee as Secretary of State, Henry Kissinger, Surely the man deserves some compassion with an always dangerous clot to concern him.

The point is that preoccupation with the fate of Richard Nixon does nothing for a world that is in the deepest sort of trouble for reasons that have no connection with the Watergate panty-raids, which, incidentally, didn't yield a single panty. Everything in the West can fall apart if the Middle East peace talks get derailed and the Arabs reinstitute the oil boycott. But even if peace is maintained, the money troubles that beset both Europe and America threaten to spin off into a hyper-inflation that will have men shooting each other in the streets.

I was dumbfounded to hear Englishmen, at the Mont Pelerin economic conference in Brussels, predicting that private armies may very well be created by military veterans to carry on essential social services if Britain is beset this coming winter with a rash of strikes. Since the British unions would consider the interference of any private groups to be strike-breaking, the act of trying to carry on an essential service would be the signal for civil war. Such conflict hasn't been seen in England since the 17th Century. In Ulster, yes, but in England, no.

The predictions of trouble don't come from professional hotheads. Alan Walters, the Cassel Professor of Economics at London University, a most sober man, says the chances of hyper-inflation in Britain are now about 50-50. He sees ineffectual "Canute-like posturing" by the most prestigious British economists, not to mention the British Treasury itself. We all know what happened to the middle classes in pre-Hitler Germany, he says, and while he still hopes it won't happen in England, he concludes that the time has come to think about the unthinkable.

Walters is no isolated Cassandra. Even the promise of North Sea oil shrinks in one's estimation when one hears something about the cost of bringing the new wells in. If the Arab oil cartel now has the power to keep the West in the vise of high prices, what would stop it from underselling what the North Sea will bring to Europe?

There's trouble ahead for the West as far down the line as one can see. And who, among us, is reconciled to giving up a single thing?

Ohio Perspective

Cuyahoga race hot and heavy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— One of the most hotly contested races in Ohio this year is in the southern and western third of Cuyahoga County, the 23rd District where voters will elect a new congressman for the first time in 20 years.

Seven candidates seek to succeed Republican William E. Minshall of Lakewood, who is retiring.

The campaign lines up as a three-way battle. The principals are state Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma; state Rep. George E. Mastics, R-3 Cleveland, and Dennis Kucinich, Cleveland councilman who is running as an independent on the premise that one cannot avoid Watergate-type politics in either major party.

The contest also includes two attorneys and two businessmen alike only in their determination to be giant killers.

The four are Arthur L. Cain of Strongsville, a patent attorney; Bohdan A. Futey of Parma, director of Cleveland's bicentennial preparations; Hugh J. Gallagher of Lakewood, a specialist in industrial promotions, and William H. Maloof, a commercial parking lot owner.

Mottl, 40, perhaps best known as the state senator who sponsored the Ohio lottery bill, wades into the fray with the backing of the state's largest newspaper, the Cleveland Plain Dealer. A 16-year veteran of politics, Mottl has been a senator since 1969, a state representative and a Parma councilman.

The 1974 23rd District campaign centers on tactics to tilt successfully against the twin windmills of corruption in government and inflation.

Mottl would control prices, wages and profits and raise the personal federal income tax exemption from $750 to $1,000. He would use receipts from an excess oil profits tax to finance research into alternative energy sources.

Mastics, a state representative since 1967, is wont to appear on the doorsteps of 100 potential constituents on an Indian summer campaign Saturday with his blonde wife, Carole, and one of five children in tow.

"Balance the budget," he responds to yet another inflation-weary suburbanite. Mastics claims the U.S. debt at $500 billion is $90 billion more than the combined debt of the rest of the world.

Foreign and giveaways have cost the nation $22 million a day for nearly 30 years, he says.

An act that bears Mastics' name provides for drug rehabilitation centers, drug education in Ohio schools and harsh punishment for peddlers.

Mastics describes another of his bills, one dealing with campus disorders, as one "to allow students wanting an education to get one without the disruptive activities of radicals and troublemakers."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Pregnant daughter refuses to wed

DEAR ABBY: My daughter graduated from college. With honors, yet, but listen to what this dumbbell did. She moved in with her boyfriend with the understanding that if they both decided they were right for each other they would get married.

Now she thinks she's pregnant, but she has not told her boyfriend because she wants him to marry her for HERSELF, not because there is a baby on the way. Have you ever heard of such stupidity from a college graduate?

Thank God we don't live in the same city because I keep thinking of things I'd like to say to her and it's getting harder and harder to keep my mouth shut.

I wish I could talk some sense into that girl's head. She never misses your column. Maybe you can.

TEARING MY HAIR

DEAR TEARING: Your daughter hasn't asked me for any advice, so I'm not about to give her any. But I have some for you. Quit tearing your hair over a grown daughter of legal age who is determined to live her life the way she wants to. It's her privilege. Right or wrong.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two children under five. I was married, but it didn't work out.

For a year now I have been going with a very nice and lovable older man. My only bad break is that he is married and living with his wife.

He says he loves me very much and one day will marry me, but right now he feels sorry for his wife and he can't talk divorce to her or she will crack up. (She's not very strong. They have five kids.) He tells his wife he's working late and comes over here for supper nearly every night. My kids call him "Daddy," but they're confused because when they go to bed at night their 'Daddy" is here, but he's never here when they wake up in the morning.

I have no one to talk to about this. My mother would never understand. Please advise me.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: I think you're wasting your time. Get smart and say goodbye to this part-time "Daddy." Look for an unattached man your kids can say "Good night" and "Good morning" to.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this in utter disgust for the way guys are starting to dress now. It makes me sick to my stomach to see men walk around in platform shoes and midriff blouses with their navels showing! What on earth would make a man want to dress that way!

Are people so taken in by the weirdo fashion designers that they will buy anything as long as it's new and considered "in"?

I don't mind a little imagination in men's wear, but some of these flowered shirts and feminine looking duds are ridiculous. Men don't look like men anymore.

Now that I got this off my chest, I feel better.

FEMALE

DEAR FEMALE: Not ALL men are buying the above-described attire. And as for your complaint about men not looking like men, could it be because some WOMEN look like men?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LU WITH A LULU OF A PROBLEM": Yes, for every problem there IS a solution-even if it's only learning to live with it. When you pick a lemon, make lemonade.

Your attitude toward associates is extremely outgoing and you possess an unusual flair for the dramatic. With all this, you are within, a softly sensitive person, caring deeply for others and actually suffering over "man's inhumanity to man." No matter what career you adopt, you will, almost inevitably, make time to devote yourself to causes designed to improve the common lot. Career-wise, you would make an intense and dynamic actor, a brilliant attorney or jurist, a powerfully persuasive writer, a highly sensitive musician — in almost any field.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I think it is noteworthy to bring to the attention of the residents of Fayette County, of the importance of the participation of industry to the blood program.

The significance of this was noted at the Sept. 26 visit of the Bloodmobile to Fayette County. Industry provided 50 per cent of the donors, and leading the group is Mac Tools, Inc. Since October 1973, almost every visit the Bloodmobile makes to Washington C.H., there are 30 or more blood donors from Mac Tools, Inc., which is a relative new industry to Washington C.H. As blood program chairman for Fayette County, I would like to thank industry, particularly Mac Tools, Inc., for their fine cooperation.

BALLOT LANGUAGE, EXPLANATIONS, AND RESOLUTIONS FOR PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO CONSTITUTION TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTERS AT THE GENERAL ELECTION, NOVEMBER 5, 1974

1 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Article XII, Section 2

TO PERMIT LAWS REDUCING REAL ESTATE TAXES ON THE HOMESTEADS OF PERMANENTLY AND TOTALLY DISABLED RESIDENTS.

If adopted, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1975.
(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 1

The Ohio Constitution presently provides that land and improvements thereon must be taxed by uniform rule according to value. The only current exception to this requirement is the 1970 amendment which permits the General Assembly to provide in the tax laws for a reduced tax for residents 65 years of age and older by providing for a reduction in the value of the homestead of such persons.

Iss .e No. 1, if passed, would create a second exception to the uniform tax rule by permitting the General Assembly to reduce the homestead value in the case of PERMANENTLY AND TOTALLY DISABLED PERSONS, thereby reducing their taxes.

2 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

TO REPEAL SECTION 12 OF ARTICLE VIII OF THE OHIO CONSTITUTION, WHICH REQUIRES THE GOVERNOR TO APPOINT A SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC WORKS FOR A ONE-YEAR TERM.

(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	NO

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 2

Article VIII, section 12 of the Ohio Constitution requires the Governor to appoint a superintendent of public works for a one year term.

Due to an enactment of the 110th General Assembly creating the Department of Administrative Services, the duties of the Department of Public Works were included, as were those of the Departments of Finance and State Personnel, in this new department. As such, there is no longer a Department of Public Works, as its duties and functions are now lodged with the Director of Administrative Services, who, under the provisions of law, is appointed by the Governor to serve at his pleasure with the advice and consent of the Senate.

3 PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
Article VIII, Section 13

TO INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING AMONG THE PURPOSES FOR WHICH PUBLIC INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS MAY BE ISSUED AND LOAN GUARANTEE PROGRAMS UNDERTAKEN, WITHOUT OBLIGATING OR PLEDGING MONEYS RAISED BY TAXATION:

1. THE PRESERVATION OF EXISTING JOBS,
2. THE CONTROL OF AIR, WATER AND THERMAL POLLUTION,
3. THE DISPOSAL OF SOLID WASTE, AND
4. THE CONSTRUCTION OF ELECTRIC AND GAS UTILITY SERVICE FACILITIES FOR POLLUTION CONTROL OR SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL.

(Proposed by Resolution of the General Assembly)
A majority affirmative vote is necessary for passage.

	YES	SHALL THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED?

EXPLANATION OF ISSUE NO. 3

Article VIII, section 13 of the Ohio Constitution currently permits public industrial development revenue bonds and loan guarantee financing of facilities for industry, commerce, distribution and research, to create jobs and employment opportunities and improve the economic welfare of the people of the state. Such financing is done through issuance of revenue bonds or guarantees of loans, with moneys for repayment coming from the operation of the facilities. Moneys raised by taxation may not be obligated or pledged for payment of the bonds or guarantees. That restriction would be retained in this amendment.

The amendment would add the preservation of existing jobs to the creation of jobs as a proper purpose of such financing, and would also add the control of air, water, and thermal pollution and the disposal of solid waste as separate objectives for such bonds or loan guarantees.

The present section forbids facilities to be constructed through such financing "for the purpose of providing electric or gas utility service to the public." The amendment would make an exception to this for pollution control and solid waste disposal facilities, so that they would be financed through utility rates, which will provide the moneys to pay off the financing without in any way obligating or pledging any moneys raised by taxation.

FULL TEXT OF THE RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING EACH AMENDMENT

ISSUE 1
(House Joint Resolution No. 59)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 2 of Article XII of the Constitution of the state of Ohio to provide that laws may be passed reducing taxes by providing for a reduction in value of the homestead for totally disabled residents.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November 1974, a proposal to amend section 2 of Article XII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE XII

Section 2. No property, taxed according to value, shall be so taxed in excess of one per cent of its true value in money for all state and local purposes, but laws may be passed authorizing additional taxes to be levied outside of such limitation, either when approved by at least a majority of the electors of the taxing district voting on such proposition, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation. Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value, except that laws may be passed to reduce taxes by providing for a reduction in value of the homestead of permanently and totally disabled residents and residents sixty-five years of age and older, and providing for income and other qualifications to obtain such reduction. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1974, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by repealing section 12 of Article VIII thereof.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take immediate effect, and section 12 of Article VIII of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

ISSUE 3
(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 22)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 13 of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, to expand the purposes for which public industrial development revenue bonds may be issued to include preservation of existing jobs and removal of an existing denial of the use of the section for facilities for electric or gas utility service to the extent that such facilities are constructed for pollution control or solid waste disposal and to remove obsolete language.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1974, a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Ohio by amending section 13 of Article VIII thereof to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII

Section 13. To create or preserve jobs and employment opportunities, to improve the economic welfare of the people of the state, to control air, water, and thermal pollution, or to dispose of solid waste, it is hereby determined to be in the public interest and a proper public purpose for the state or its political subdivisions, taxing districts, or public authorities, its or their agencies or instrumentalities, or corporations not for profit designated by any of them as such agencies or instrumentalities, to acquire, construct, enlarge, improve, or equip, and to sell, lease, exchange, or otherwise dispose of property, structures, equipment, and facilities within the State of Ohio for industry, commerce, distribution, and research, to make or guarantee loans and to borrow money and issue bonds or other obligations to provide moneys for the acquisition, construction, enlargement, improvement, or equipment, of such property, structures, equipment and facilities. Laws may be passed to carry into effect such purposes and to authorize for such purposes the borrowing of money by, and the issuance of bonds or other obligations of, the state, or its political subdivisions, taxing districts, or public authorities, its or their agencies or instrumentalities, or corporations not for profit designated by any of them as such agencies or instrumentalities, and to authorize the making of guarantees and loans and the lending of aid and credit, which laws, bonds, obligations, loans, guarantees, and lending of aid and credit shall not be subject to the requirements, limitations, or prohibitions of any other section of Article VIII, or of Article XII, Sections 6 and 11, of the Constitution, provided that moneys raised by taxation shall not be obligated or pledged for the payment of bonds or other obligations issued or guarantees made pursuant to laws enacted under this section.

Except for facilities for pollution control or solid waste disposal, as determined by law, no guarantees or loans and no lending of aid or credit shall be made under the laws enacted pursuant to this section of the Constitution for facilities to be constructed for the purpose of providing electric or gas utility service to the public.

The powers herein granted shall be in addition to and not in derogation of existing powers of the state or its political subdivisions, taxing districts, or public authorities, or their agencies or instrumentalities or corporations not for profit designated by any of them as such agencies or instrumentalities.

Dumford backs action for mentally retarded

State government should assume the cost of transporting trainable mentally retarded persons, Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford, of Washington C.H., Democratic candidate for the Ohio House of Representatives from the 77th District, said today.

"I am wholeheartedly in support of the action the Ohio legislature took recently when it appropriated $2.1 million to reimburse local mental retardation boards for transporting the trainable mentally retarded. This $2.1 million appropriation is the first time the legislature has made such a subsidy available to local boards," he said.

Dumford further noted that this appropriation was the result of an 11-year fight carried out by mental retardation boards and their supporters. The money will become available on Jan. 1, 1975 and is for a six-month period.

"NOW THAT the legislature has established a precedent recognizing its responsibility to help local mental retardation boards with transportation costs, the subsidy should become a permanent part of state operations. I will support efforts designed to obtain a line-item appropriation in the next budget if I am elected state representative," Dumford said.

The former three-term Fayette County commissioner said some local mental retardation boards spend as much as 40 per cent of their budgets on transportation. If the state assumed the cost of transportation, more local program funds could become available for other important uses, he noted.

Dumford said that there are more than 23,000 mentally retarded persons served by local mental retardation boards and that the state has much to gain by increasing its assistance to mental retardation.

"Any program which will help the mentally retarded to become self-sustaining and useful members of today's society will have my support in the legislature," Dumford concluded.

Cold air chills much of nation

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cold air chilled many parts of the country east of the Mississippi River early Monday, with temperatures reported near or below freezing from New England to the northern half of South Carolina.

In the Midwest, temperatures dipped into the teens in southern Michigan and northern Indiana.

Despite the cold, there was little precipitation in most parts of the nation.

The exceptions were reports of an inch of snow in north central Nevada, scattered rain showers from Idaho into the western regions of Montana and Wyoming, and the northern sections of Utah.

Light snow also left traces of moisture over the western portion of New York State and Pennsylvania.

There were cloudy conditions in southern Texas, northern Michigan and spots along the eastern Ohio Valley through the central Appalachians.

Conditions were cool but fair over the remainder of the country.

Busy as a Bee

OLD Log Cabin quilt is admired by Blanche Greenstein, a co-owner of Antique Quilts. Some of her prize-winning antique quilts were displayed recently at a Hallmark Gallery exhibit.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

HOW MUCH money do you need to start a successful business? Marcia Delman did it with one dollar, a stroke of good luck and a great idea.

"I was driving around in New York State's ski country," the 23-year-old New Yorker recalled, "when we happened on a fair. I borrowed a dollar from a friend to buy a chance on a quilt — and I won it."

That was the start of Marcia's winning streak. When she met the quilt's maker, Elsa Sanford, it was the beginning of the patchwork firm she calls Moon Over the Mountain. But she didn't know it at the time.

"Elsa and I hit it off instantly," Marcia said. "I went back to New York with several of her patchwork pillows."

Instant Success

When friends wanted to buy them, Marcia sent for more, and more. Almost without realizing it, she was in business. When the tought finally dawned, she quit a good job in film production. While Elsa lined up quilters, Marcia opened a New York showroom.

The firm is now a year old. How's it doing?

"It must be doing OK," Marcia said with a grin, "because the books are in the black."

Her original group of upstate New York patchworkers has been expanded to include women throughout the New England states. Moon over the Mountain is an American cottage industry. The women work in their own homes and supply their handiwork to Marcia for marketing. She keeps a close eye on patchwork in progress.

Fringe Benefits

"At least twice a week, I drive up to see my women," she said. "It's nice to get out in the country. I come back with quilts and with fringe benefits — dandelion wine, fresh turkey and eggs, home-baked bread. I've acquired a lot of new 'mothers.' "

Marcia conceived and assembled the fascinating "American Patchwork" display held recently at the Hallmark Gallery in New York City. More than a gallery event, it was a meeting of old friends and a making of new ones.

Friendly Folks

"You meet people through quilt-making," Marcia said. "Wonderful people."

Bea Simpkins, a quilt-making teacher from Lynbrook, N.Y., who met Marcia through Moon Over the Mountain, agreed.

"People who sew with their hands are a special kind of people," she said. "They're structured and orderly. They make good friends."

The sentiment was echoed by another enthusiast, Blanche Greenstein who also started a business, Antique Quilts, because she got hooked on patchwork.

"I bought an old quilt," she said, "then, the next day, I went back and bought two more. It was an odd thing to do because I have only one bed. It started me collecting. When friends began buying my collection, I went into business."

Making Your Own

Collecting is only one facet of the current quilting craze. Quilt-making is another. Classes are springing up all over the country.

Elane Burns, a needlecraft expert, who teaches senior citizens in Lynbrook, N.Y., says they're enthusiastic about patchwork.

"They are women whose children have grown up," she said. "They are financially comfortable and have no responsibilities so it's time for them to be creative. Almost everyone, given the chance, has creative ability."

What better way to express it in our inflationary times than by patchwork, the all-American craft that thrifty colonial housewives devised to use up scraps.

When is recession not recession?

NEW YORK (AP) — Debt repayments on installment loans are taking most of the discretionary income of some consumers. Layoffs are mounting. Factories are slowing the production lines.

What do these characteristics suggest? Well, certainly not a recession, if you use the standards of the administration. President Ford says there's no recession. So does his commerce secretary, Frederick Dent.

Earlier in the year Dent referred to the economic decline as an "energy-crisis spasm." Last week, after the third straight quarterly decline in the Gross National Product, he explained "the spasm continues."

What really is occuring, Dent explained, is "sideways waffling," a term that will be variously interpreted as an effort to hide the truth, a lack of awareness, or a frightening attempt at euphony that recalls the reassuring statements of the early Hoover administration.

Mysteriously, the definition of "recession" disappeared with the onset of what once used to be called recession. The most popular definition was two consecutive quarters of declining Gross National Product.

To date, the GNP has fallen for three straight quarters — 7 per cent in the first three months of 1974, 1.6 per cent in the second three, and 2.9 per cent in the third quarter.

Moreover, a further decline, most likely larger than that in the third quarter, is likely to occur in the final three months of the year. And a large number of responsible economists foresee a continued decline early in 1975.

Contributing to the decline is a slowing of factory operations. A Federal Reserve Board report reveals that plants operated at only 79.2 per cent of capacity in the July-September period, the lowest in two years.

Lionel Edie, the economic consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the broker, predicts the gap between potential GNP and actual GNP will be the widest since the 1930s by the middle of next year.

At the same time, joblessness is moving sharply higher. It reached 5.8 per cent of the labor force in September, and is almost certain to exceed 6 per cent in the fourth, or current, quarter.

With an economy acting so badly and often so surprisingly, long-distance forecasts are dangerous to make. Many responsible economists are, however, suggesting that a rate well above 6 per cent might prevail early in 1975.

The strains of this deterioration are present in every middle and lower class family in America, especially since they are combined with a consumer price inflation that leaped to 11.5 per cent in the third quarter.

Many families now are buried by their own mismanagement, having to use their income merely to pay old bills. Installment debt repayment in the second quarter hit 16 per cent of disposable income, highest ever.

Ohio River quake noted

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — No damages or injuries were reported Sunday when a small earthquake shook a wide area along the Ohio River here.

G.A. Bollinger, professor of geophysics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg, Va., said the quake was recorded on the seismograph at the school and would have registered between a two or three on the Richter scale.

He described it as "very small and very rare" but said several such quakes have been reported in the area in the last hundred years.

Residents of the area said the vibrations and tremors lasted only a few seconds. At first an explosion was suspected at one of several nearby chemical plants. Later when plant officials reported nothing unusual, it was assumed it was a sonic boom.

State highway crews tackle first snow

The Ohio Department of Transportation garage, CCC Highway-W, activated three salt trucks Saturday night during the year's first snowfall.

Gene Fitzpatrick, garage superintendent, said that it was one of the earliest dates requiring salt crews in recent years.

Although some of the work scheduled this week may be delayed if the temperatures remain at the freezing point, the garage hopes to do patching work on Ohio 734-W, patch the blacktop on Interstate 71 at the Ohio 41 exit ramp, and continue berm work on Ohio 41-N. Trash crews and rest area wash crews will be in operation, if the weather permits.

According to Charles Wagner, county engineer, work crews will be resurfacing Davids Road in Jasper Township and patching county roads in Wayne and Marion townships. Repair work will be done on a bridge and culverts on Harmony Road, and mowing will continue throughout the county.

City streets crews will begin clearing leaves, according to Bill Duncan, street superintendent. The leaf project will begin in the city's first ward and continue throught the city. City crews will be sweeping and patching streets and will be clearing brush from Paint Creek banks.

Probe hospital embezzlement

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — An investigation into charges of embezzlement at Hardin Memorial Hospital was to continue today with a grand jury reconvening and taking evidence at Elizabethtown.

Strict secrecy has surrounded the investigation. Former hospital Director Don Davis said in May that embezzlement went on during the term of a previous hospital administrator.

Davis said he learned of the embezzlement through a report by an accounting firm that audited hospital records.

Businessmen see no deep slump

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite inflation, rising unemployment and the high cost of money, the nation should get through the coming months without a severe economic slump, say businessmen surveyed by The Associated Press.

The business leaders — nearly a 100 retailers, manufacturers and bankers from around the country — were queried during the month before President Ford's economic address to Congress.

Inflation remains the country's biggest economic problem, the businessmen say, but unemployment is a growing cancer and is expected by the businessmen to become the next major problem.

President Ford won general praise for what many called his cautious, prudent approach to economics, though many said they'd reserve judgment to see results. In general, they said Ford's economic summit meetings helped focus public attention on inflation, a critical need many businessmen said.

"Half of economics is science," says Maurice Ferre, Miami mayor and president of Maule, Inc., a construction company. "The other half is human nature, which outweighs the so-called economic truths.

"If people believe there will be a recession, there will be."

As might be expected, most of those businessmen interviewed say more business and less government is the long run answer to inflation.

"Rather than relief from government I think our real need today is relief of government," says Ken Smith, executive with Jantzen, Inc., a Portland, Ore., clothing manufacturer.

"The government is the biggest consumer and the consumer still controls inflation," says Robert Duckworth of the First National Bank of Arizona.

A balanced budget is the first step toward easing inflation because it will reduce government demand for funds, thus freeing money for business expansion, said most businessmen questioned. Increased productivity and expansion, will cut inflation, they said.

"There are only two reasons for inflation: too much money or too few goods," says William Dillard Sr., an Arkansas retailer. "We need more producers."

But, says Gabe Rutherford, president of an Arkansas steel fabricating firm: "The talk about cutting federal spending really means cutting construction. That would mean a bigger slowdown."

Despite growing evidence of a recession — consumer hesitancy, concern over inventories, rising unemployment — the businessmen still say inflation is the nation's chief economic headache.

"I don't think inflation is going to change its upward trend or stop anytime soon, because I don't think prices are going to stop rising," says Lewis Kohn, chairman of Maryland's Rochshild Kohn Department Store.

But, says Kenneth Ross, economist with the First National Bank of Arizona: "Ford may be in a little better position than President Nixon. There are some blips on the radar screen that may mean we are starting to come out of the problem."

Some are more skeptical, however. "I think it's unrealistic to think we can stop inflation without too severe of a recession," says Bill Bright, a West Virginia greeting card manufacturer.

Former Nixon aide raps press role

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—A former aide to ex-President Richard Nixon criticized the news media Sunday for what he said was biased coverage of the White House.

Bruce Herschensohn singled out the television networks and said the daily coverage of former administration officials going to and from court for the Watergate proceedings was a form of "20th Century lynching."

Speaking at the closing session of a symposium conducted here by the Center for the Study of the Presidency, Hershcensohn said Nixon was in a no-win situation with the news media.

"If we gave out news, we were regarded as paranoid," Herschensohn said. "If not, we were criticized for not informing."

Also participating in a discussion of the media and the presidency, Dr. J. Leiper Freeman, political science professor at Vanderbilt University, said those who criticize the media the most need to analyze and stuuy it more.

The center, a nonprofit New York-based group devoted to "the study of the world's most powerful lay office," held its three-day symposium at the historic Spiegel Grove Estate of former President Rutherford B. Hayes.

The symposium was sponsored by Heidelberg College in nearby Tiffin, Bowling Green State University and the Hayes Foundation.

Predominant theme arising out of the meetings was an apparent need to strengthen the two-party system.

Jerald terHorst, who served briefly as President Ford's press secretary, told the 135 academicians Saturday night that recent third-party movements are indications of a weakening of the two-party system.

"Independents are sufficient to constitute a major third party," he said.

TerHorst, who resigned because of the pardon of Nixon, said Ford is in a position to restore faith in the system.

He said the President has the respect and admiration of many Democrats, but also could strengthen his own party by influencing conservative Democrats and independents toward the Republican cause.

Brown discusses drug legislation here

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

A distinguished Ohio visitor passed through Washington C.H. Saturday morning with few people even aware of his presence.

Attorney General William J. Brown stopped in the Democratic headquarters at the Washington Inn about 10:30 a.m. for a quick cup of coffee before continuing to Xenia where he was to speak on a piece of drug legislation drafted through his office.

Brown said he has scheduled a debate with opponent George C. Smith Wednesday at the Cuyahoga County Bar Association and will stress his past political record in consumerism, anti-trust, charitable foundations and environment as key issues during the debate.

Brown, who spoke with a noticeable touch of the flu to approximately 15 persons at the morning brunch, said his office was "gearing up the investigation to be done by the Cuyahoga County grand jury" in reference to Smith's and the U.S. General Accounting Office contentions that there were possible fund-raising violations by the Democratic party in Ohio in 1972.

"We're not like the other side; we'll take care of our own," Brown said.

Brown spent most of the hour in a question and answer session with local Democratic club president Richard Kimmet, Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for 77th district House of Representatives, and Washington C.H. City Manager Dan Wolford.

The men discussed the drug legislation, which was drafted by Brown's office in June, 1973, and introduced to the January session of the legislation.

The bill, which Brown claims could "reduce the drug problem 25 per cent within the first six months," has beeen held up in the Senate Rules Committee, awaiting a Nov. 12 meeting.

The Ohio House of Representatives passed the bill 89-3 and according to Brown, "when you get the House of Representatives to vote 89-3, it's daylight — and quite an accomplishment."

The proposed statute has been a major issue by Brown in his recent travels throughout the state. "The bill is not dead," he said. "It's a good, sound, comprehensive and very unique piece of drug legislation from education through rehabilitation."

The bill includes "sure, mandatory penalties with no probation, no parole and no shock probation," according to Brown.

In a broad outline of the total drug market, Brown said the penalty for heroin was seven years; lesser opiates, four years; amphetamines and barbiturates, two years; and marijuana, six months, with concentration on the pushers, or those who deal in the trafficking of drugs.

Brown said the bill holds a "definitive and strict style of penalty system which is a deviation of the way the drug problem has been handled since the early 1960s."

The bill "eliminates easy outs while giving the first-time user every opportunity to be rehabilitated through pretrial diversion."

Brown said the first offender would have the opportunity to request pretrial diversion and if he so chooses, he would be directly diverted into the rehabilitation process. "If he is successfully rehabilitated, the first offender will not have to participate in the court process and all records will be destroyed," Brown added.

"It treats the first offender as a person who has made a mistake," he said.

Noting that the crime rate has increased in rural counties 14 per cent while the rate has declined in the cities, Brown said "heroin is not confined to the ghetto of Cleveland and I hope this can be communicated to the people of Washington C.H."

While adding that he realizes the drug bill puts a tremendous burden on the laboratories and prosecuting attorneys, who are already deluged with work, he said, "It's better than putting a tremendous burden on the gravediggers. There are too many people dying or being mamed from drug-rlated crimes."

Brown also discussed problems with the Record-Herald he encountered as being the youngest man ever elected to a state office. Now only 34 years old, Brown said it was a large shift to move from being a practicing trial lawyer to "the third largest law firm in the United States.

"There were problems in dealing with the media and my brothers in the law firms and you have to learn to compromise and maneuver in the legislature.

"As attorney general, you suffer crushing defeats and tremendous victories — on a daily basis," he added.

200 workers return to Sandusky plant

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Some 200 workers returned to their jobs at the Chrysler Products plant here after ratifying a new three-year contract Sunday to end a six-week strike.

The workers, members of the Sandusky Chrysler Employes Association, voted 100-22 in favor of the new pact, which replaces one that expired June 1. Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Dick Bassett says he took a basket of surplus military electrical parts and a junk auto body and turned them into a little electric car that hums along at 40 miles an hour for up to 50 miles.

"My wife and daughters drive it continuously," he said. "It's an awful lot cheaper than a gasoline-driven car.

"The idea of an electric car isn't anything new, but putting one together and driving it around town sure is," said Bassett, 48, an engineer at Sandia Laboratories.

Bassett said the car costs a little over half-a-penny per mile to operate, based on the current price of electricity. He said he has about $1,000 invested in the car. Nearly threefourths of the cost is in the 10 lead-acid storage batteries, five each in what had been the car's engine and trunk spaces.

"It's a weird feeling, sitting at a stoplight in the car. When the accelerator isn't depressed, there's no sound. No power is consumed. You always wonder if you're really going to move when you hit the pedal," Bassett said. "My wife has a problem with it while shopping. People in parking lots constantly walk in front of the car, because they can't hear it coming.

"We also have trouble getting service at drive-in bank windows, because tellers depend on an intercom to alert them that a customer is coming. We usually wind up blowing the horn."

The idea of the car, he said, had been in the back of his mind a long time.

"I really decided to do something about it when the energy crisis came. The car body had to be light and boxy, so I bought a 1963, four door foreign compact sedan. I began by stripping everything out of the car—motor, radiator heater, hoses, the works.

"It weighed about 1,595 pounds to begin with. I stripped about 300 pounds off of it," Bassett said.

He acquired a surplus aircraft generator from a California firm — a 28 volt, 300-amp generator that weighed about 80 pounds and delivers about 36 mechanical horsepower.

Bassett discarded the car's clutch assembly and bolted the generator directly to a fourspeed transmission he rebuilt.

"I rigged a flexible coupling, but I was counting on the syncromesh in the transmission to let me shift gears without a clutch. It worked out real fine, but we never use first gear. It's such a high gear ratio, it just spins the wheels or tends to lift the front end of the car."

Controlling the speed proved another problem.

"That was solved by rigging the accelerator pedal to sequenced micro switches, which are used to operate surplus, 400-amp, 28-volt relays," he said. "That gives the car three electrical speeds in each gear. The pickup is fantastic. And when you let up on the accelerator pedal, it becomes almost freewheeling."

The batteries are charged by plugging a charger into a connector in the grill.

"An overnight charge is sufficient to restore even a completely dead battery," Bassett said.

Man said suicide as police approach

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — North Canton police reported Sunday that Kenneth Schultz, 21, of Warren, Mich., shot himself to death as officers approached him to question him about a drugstore holdup.

The incident occurred in a wooded area where police had staked out the robbery loot after receiving a tip that two men had been seen hiding it there.

Police said Schultz was AWOL from the Air Force.

Radio communication between ground and aircraft was virtually nonexistent until 1930, when two-way radio-telephones arrived.

GOP luncheon, rally scheduled this week

Former Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes will be the guest speaker at a fund-raising luncheon here Friday.

The $25-a-plate GOP dinner will begin at noon in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairground, according to Robert Brubaker, chairman for Rhodes' re-election campaign in Fayette County.

Brubaker said the luncheon would probably only last about an hour and a half because of an afternoon appointment elsewhere for Rhodes.

On Thursday there will be a fall rally in the Republican headquarters office, at the corner of North and Court streets. The guest speaker will be Bob McEwen, candidate for the Ohio House of Representatives from the 77th District.

The rally will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. There will be free refreshments and door prizes. The rally is sponsored by the Fayette County Republican Club which urges all area residents to vote on election day.

Fires kill 8 persons

By The Associated Press

Eight persons died in house fires around Ohio Sunday.

Five of the deaths occurred in Columbus in two separate blazes and three of the victims died in a fire at Montpelier in northwestern Ohio.

William G. Bailey Jr., 3, his brother, David, 2, and a halfbrother, Billy Jo Hiser, 6, died in a fire in their home on Columbus' northeast side. Firemen theorized the blaze may have been started by one of the children playing with matches.

A fire that leveled a two-story frame house on the near north side of Columbus claimed the lives of Henry and Callie Landrum, both in their 50s. Officials said they believed the fire started when a kitchen stove overheated.

At Montpelier, Dennis Hollstein, 26, Ford Hollstein, 58, and Connie Smethurst, 18, died in a fire that officials said might have been arson. The state fire marshal's office was asked to investigate.

Cards remain unbeaten in NFL

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

And then there was one ... barely.

The surprising St. Louis Cardinals are now the only undefeated team in the National Football League — the Minnesota Vikings and New England Patriots were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten Sunday — and Coach Don Coryell is enjoying his team's success to the fullest.

"The pressure of being unbeaten doesn't make any difference from a coaching standpoint, but I like it," said Coryell, in his second year at St. Louis since leaving San Diego State. "I wouldn't be in the business if I didn't."

Quarterback Jim Hart sparked the Cards to a 31-13 lead early in the fourth quarter, and they withstood two one-yard touchdown runs by Houston's George Amundson for the victory.

Hart capitalized on a pair of Oiler fumbles and threw touchdown passes of six and 40 yards to Earl Thomas in a 1:32 minute span of the second quarter to spark the Cards.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Lions dropped Minnesota from the list of the unbeatens, upsetting the Vikings 20-16, while New England's balloon finally was burst by Buffalo 30-28.

Elsewhere in the NFL, the Baltimore Colts whipped the New York Jets 35-20, the New Orleans Saints upset the Atlanta Falcons 13-3, the Dallas Cowboys beat the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24, the Pittsburgh Steelers edged the Cleveland Browns 20-16, the Washington Redskins defeated the New York Giants 24-3, the Miami Dolphins slipped past the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3, the Denver Broncos defeated the San Diego Chargers 27-7, the Los Angeles Rams topped the San Francisco 49ers 37-14 and the Oakland Raiders beat the Cincinnati Bengals 30-27.

The Green Bay Packers will face the Bears at Chicago in tonight's national television game.

Lions 20, Vikings 16

Bill Munson was the big man for the Lions, completing 22 of 32 passes for 276 yards. Ten of his passes were caught by wide receiver Ron Jessie.

Detroit's victory was its first over the Vikings in 14 meetings going back to 1967.

Bills 30, Patriots 28

New England's Sam Cunningham raced 75 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage, but after that it was a struggle for the Patriots, who had stunned football experts by winning their first five games.

"That run scared me," said Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson, who threw for three TDs. "I'm just glad we forgot about it and came right back," he added.

Ferguson threw touchdown passes to Paul Seymour and O.J. Simpson within the next 11 minutes to put Buffalo in front, and New England never drew even.

Rams 37, 49ers 14

James Harris sparkled in his first start at quarterback for the Rams, passing for three touchdowns and running for another. He completed 12 of 15 passes for 276 yards.

San Francisco wide receiver Dan Abramowicz caught two passes and set an NFL record with at least one reception in 97 straight games.

Dolphins 9, Chiefs 3

"It was a tough yard," said Miami Dolphins fullback Larry Csonka, whose one-yard plunge with 17 seconds remaining beat the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3. Csonka, who didn't practice all week because of an injured left knee, gained 80 yards in 17 carries.

Raiders 30, Bengals 27

"There was never any doubt in my mind," Oakland Coach John Madden said of his decision to punt with his team at the Cincinnati 32-yard line with three minutes left. Oakland trailed 27-23 at the time.

Saints 13, Falcons 3

Bobby Scott, given the starting nod at quarterback when Coach John North benched Archie Manning during the week, tossed a 36-yard scoring pass to Paul Seal for the only touchdown of the game as the Saints upset Atlanta for their first victory in 19 games on the road.

Steelers 20, Browns 16

Pittsburgh struggled past the Browns as quarterback Joe Gilliam managed to complete just five of 18 pass attempts for the Steelers. Two second-half field goals by Roy Gerela were the difference.

Redskins 24, Giants 3

Veteran Sonny Jurgensen threw three touchdown passes to pace the Redskins, who took advantage of frequent New York mistakes, including a punt which was blocked by Mike Hull.

Cowboys 31, Eagles 24

Dallas snapped a four-game losing streak by beating the Eagles. Roger Staubach's one-yard TD run midway through the fourth quarter was the margin of victory.

Colts 35, Jets 20

Baltimore's Lydell Mitchell set an NFL record by carrying the ball 40 times, one more than O.J. Simpson's standard set last year. He gained 156 yards and scored one touchdown in leading the Colts to their first victory of the season.

Broncos 27, Chargers 7

Running back Floyd Little, slowed all season by a nagging ankle injury, scored one touchdown and set up another by galloping 72 yards with a short pass to lead Denver past San Diego.

Malone held to four points

By The Associated Press

Moses Malone jumped straight from high school into the American Basketball Association, but the 19-year-old millionaire is still getting an education. One of his teachers is Professor Caldwell.

Aided by veteran Joe Caldwell's defensive maneuvering against Malone, the Spirits of St. Louis defeated the Utah Stars 116-109 Sunday night. Utah's prize rookie scored only four points.

"He's a great prospect, he's going to be a great player," said Caldwell, 32, one of the ABA's top defensive players, about Malone, who shot two for six from the field in 28 minutes with nine rebounds.

"Mainly it was just keeping the ball away from him," said Caldwell, a 10-year pro. "I wanted to see what he'd do without the ball in his hands. He didn't move well. But I think that's something all rookies have to learn — not just Moses."

Rookie Fly Williams of St. Louis scored 24 points, 16 in the final quarter. And Caldwell chipped in 18 points and seven assists.

Only 3,501 spectators watched the Spirits, who play in the 17,776-seat St. Louis Arena, win their first game since pulling out of Carolina. The travel-weary Stars, 0-3, gladly quit the road.

In the only other games on the ABA schedule Sunday, Kentucky beat Indiana 101-92 and San Diego downed New York 116-110.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Seattle beat Cleveland 100-93 and Kansas City-Omaha topped Los Angeles 105-95.

Kentucky led by Dan Issel's 24 points, held off a late surge by Indiana for the triumph.

"We run our stuff and it just so happened that tonight it went to Issel," said a pleased Hubie Brown, the new Colonels coach. Indiana reserve Billy Knight scored 27 points in the game.

The Q's opened before 6,875 fans in the San Diego Sports Arena, trouncing the Nets with a strong finish.

San Diego's Travis Grant, 44 points, outgunned New York's Julius Erving, 37 points — but only 11 of them in the second half.

Coach Bill Russell of Seattle was pleased with the 31-point performance by Fred Brown, who personally sank Cleveland.

"He's a great shooter," said Russell of Brown, 26, a roaming guard with a keen eye. "When we need the points, he takes over and gets the points."

In Los Angeles, Nate Williams of Kansas City-Omaha sank four decisive baskets early in the fourth period against the Lakers.

It happend after LA, which had trailed by 17 points in the third period, tied the game 76-76 in a futfle comeback effort.

Saturday's ABA scores: Denver 111, New York 103; San Antonio 114, Memphis 94; and Virginia 94, Utah 92.

In the NBA Saturday: Kansas City-Omaha 94, Phoenix 91; Boston 113, Buffalo 95; Philadelphia 99, New York 86; Atlanta 118, Houston 112; Washington 110, New Orleans 92; Chicago 87, Milwaukee 70; Golden State 113, Cleveland 110; and Detroit 122, Portland 99.

Miami easily halts Bowling Green

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer

Things were a little too easy for Miami of Ohio Saturday.

That's the opinion of Coach Dick Crum whose Redskins scored two quick first-quarter touchdowns on their way to a 34-10 football victory over Bowling Green.

Miami's offense suddenly went into hiding for two periods before reemerging in the closing quarter when the Redskins pulled away with 20 fourth period points.

"It was just a case of our getting two touchdowns too easy," Crum said. "I've seen it happen before. I just frankly think our people offense and defense, relaxed and got to thinking it was going to be easier than it was."

The victory enabled Miami of Ohio to run its unbeaten string to 18—they were tied by Purdue earlier this season — and the Redskins are now 2-0 in Mid-American Conference play.

While Miami and Bowling Green were squaring off, all the other MAC teams had nonconference opponents.

Toledo defeated Dayton 38-27, Western Michigan beat Marshall 20-17, Ohio beat Morehead 49-10, and Utah State downed Kent State 27-24.

After Miami's early explosives, led by quarterback Sherman Smith, Bowling Green came back within four points 14-10, in the third quarter. They had a chance to tie the game just before halftime, but failed to capitalize on a first and goal situation on the Miami six-yard line.

If things seemed too easy for Miami Saturday, they probably won't this weekend.

The Redskins put their unbeaten string on the line at Toledo, which has not lost in three conference outings.

"I think that's going to be the decisive game," Crum said. "We're going to have to play better than this."

Toledo quarterback Gene Swick ran for two touchdowns and passed for another as the Rockets soared to a 21-7 halftime lead.

Dayton quarterback Tom Vosberg threw three touchdowns, but was also intercepted three times, boosting his record in that dubious category to 16 so far this season.

Rich Bevly threw Ohio University's first touchdown pass of the season and ran for three other scores against Morehead State.

It was Ohio's biggest point production since 1968 when they outslugged Cincinnati 60-48.

Bevly, a senior from Youngstown, Ohio, passed 34 yards to Cleveland Moutry after his touchdown runs of one, three and ten yards.

Ford's teammates to dine in White House

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Late next month 23 men from points as distant as South Africa will leave their families during the Thanksgiving holiday week and fly to Washington just to have brunch.

But the 11 a.m. meal on Thanksgiving Day is a special occasion for each of them.

The brunch will be held at the White House and it will be the 44th annual gathering of the 30-30 Club, representing those who helped old South High in Grand Rapids to an undefeated football season in 1930.

"I'd mortgage my house if that was the only way I could get the money for this trip," is the way Arthur Brown, the squad's starting left tackle and club secretary, assessed the invitation from an old teammate.

Brown's old teammate is President Gerald Ford, who was the starting center and only player on the squad to make all-state that season.

Despite his national leadership role, Mr. Ford is only the club's vice president and no change is likely this year, Brown said.

Twenty-four players are living and just two have told Brown they cannot attend. Two others still have not replied.

In addition, the team's coach and assistant coach, a former South High School principal and two team managers are invited.

The Thanksgiving gatherings mark the date of the last game the team played as a unit.

Until this year, the annual get-togethers always were held in Grand Rapids, and Ford used to fly back from Washington for them during his 25 years as a congressman from west Michigan.

The White House brunch is limited to members and their wives because "everybody wants to get in the act. Ford's office here says at least 190 persons have told them they played football at South with him," Brown said.

Asked about other events besides the brunch, Brown said he knows of none although most club members intend to spend at least three days in Washington.

Seven of the President's teammates are retired; three work in auto plants; three in real estate; three are educators; two are business executives; one is in the grocery business; one an industrial supervisor; one a salesman; one a sailor, and one a funeral director.

Edward A. Preston, a reserve quarterback, is making the trip from Johannesburg, South Africa, where he is an executive with Lock Joint Pipe Co.

WILLIAM TELL — Mike Smith, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Beryle Smith, 206 Buckeye Road, bagged this eight-point buck in the vicinity of Deer Creek, Thursday afternoon. The occasion will long be remembered by Smith, who has been trying for five years to kill a deer with his 42-pound bow. The buck was estimated to weigh 200 pounds field-dressed. (Record-Herald Photo)

Status quo in Big Ten grid race

It's status quo in the Big Ten football race. Ohio State and Michigan are tied for first place all by themselves — the same way they finished last year when they battled to a deadlock to share the conference crown.

The No. 1-ranked Buckeyes, who are crushing everybody in sight, trounced Indiana 49-9 while Michigan, taking command in the second half, defeated Wisconsin 24-20 behind the efficiency of quarterback Dennis Franklin.

Illinois slipped out of a first place tie by tying Michigan State 21-21, Purdue posted its first conference triumph with a 31-26 decision over Northwestern and Rick Upchurch ran wild in leading Minnesota to a 23-17 victory over Iowa.

Wisconsin seemingly could be used as the yardstick in measuring the relative strengths of Ohio State and Michigan. The Badgers were swamped by Ohio State 52-7 before their meeting with Michigan.

But Wisconsin Coach John Jardine, refusing to compare the two teams, said "No."

"They're both fine teams," said Jardine. "Ohio State was as fired up for us as anyone has ever been. Whether Michigan was fired up or not, I don't know."

Wisconsin took the game right to Michigan and scored first but the half found them tied 7-7.

Then Franklin took over. He completed five of six passes in the second half, four of them on third downs and flawlessly directed two touchdown drives in the third quarter which decided the game.

Coach Bo Schembechler, who disdains passing, admitted "the pass was important, but we felt we could run on them. We did, too, but there comes a time when you've got to pass on those third down plays."

Bengals lose 30-27 tilt to Raiders

OAKLAND (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals came within eight seconds of ending their losing streak in the Oakland Coliseum before a two-yard desperation dive by running back Charlie Smith turned the game around.

Smith's heroics gave the Oakland Raiders a 30-27 comeback victory over the Bengals Sunday before 51,821 enthusiastic fans.

"Our club has a history of winning games like this," said quarterback Ken Stabler, who drove the Raiders 52 yards to the winning tally.

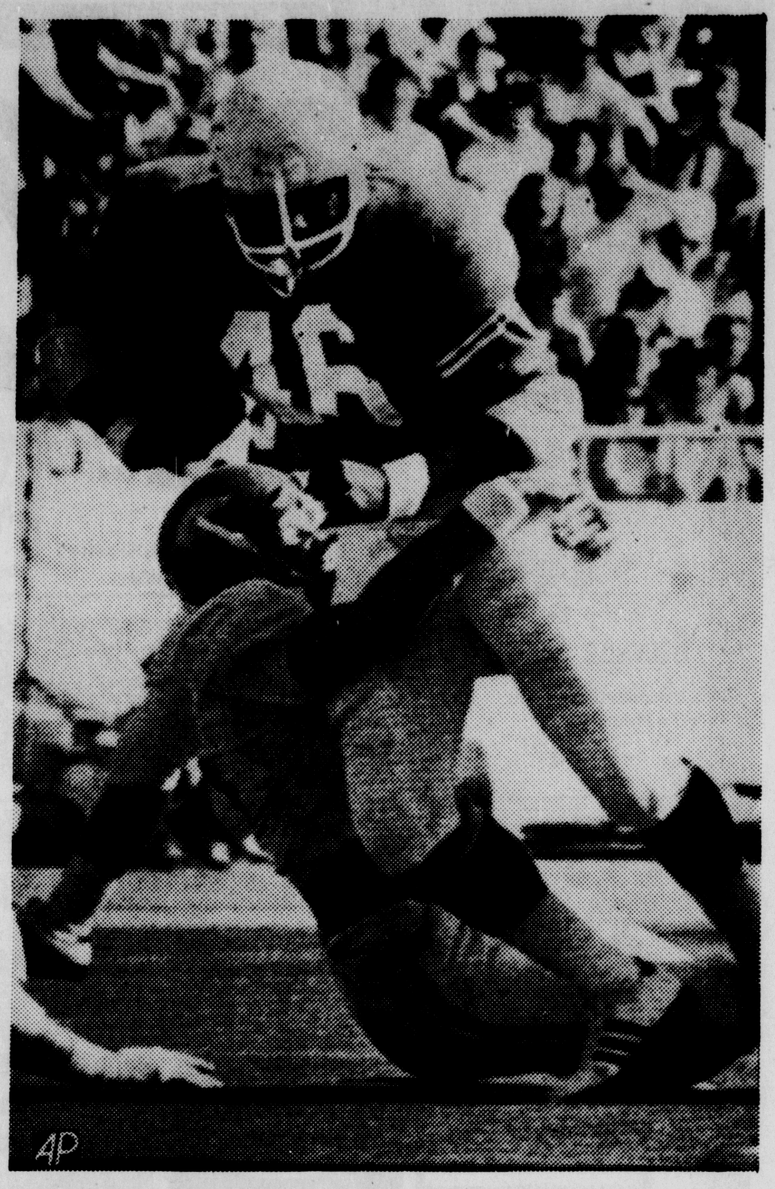
The victory boosted Oakland to 5-1 and stiffened their lead in the American Football Conference West. It also dropped the Bengals, now 4-2, behind Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

With 1:36 to go and no timeouts, Stabler reeled off three straight first downs on one pass to Fred Biletnikoff and two to tight end Bob Moore.

After two incomplete passes, Stabler hit wide receiver Mike Siani on Cincinnati's one-yard line, setting the stage for Smith.

With 13 seconds left, he took Stabler's handoff, slanted toward right tackle, then cut outside, leaped over a man and fell headlong into the end zone.

It seemed at first that the Bengals might win their first game in the Coliseum when they jumped out to a 14-6 halftime lead.



FIRST DOWN FOR TEXAS — Texas fullback Roosevelt Leaks (46) is hauled down by Arkansas defensive back Floyd Hogan after Leaks picked up first down on handoff from quarterback in first period of game at Austin. Others are Billy Burns (53), Arkansas back, and Arkansas linebacker Hal McAffee (76). Arkansas back Rollen Smith (40) was also in on tackle.

Few upsets in college action

HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

After four upset-filled weekends, the college football scene returned to normal Saturday ... and in this jumbled season that may be the biggest upset of all.

Only three members of The Associated Press Top Twenty came out losers and two of them bowed to other ranked teams.

Tenth-ranked North Carolina State suffered a 33-14 licking at the hands of unranked arch-rival North Carolina, but No. 9 Arizona was toppled by No. 17 Texas Tech 17-8 and No. 13 Kansas underwent a 56-0 humiliation at the hands of No. 12 Nebraska.

Meanwhile, the runaway 1-2 teams in The AP ratings rolled to easy victories — top-ranked Ohio State crushed Indiana 49-9 while runner-up Oklahoma bombed Colorado 49-14.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Michigan shaded Wisconsin 24-20, No. 4 Alabama trounced Tennessee 28-6, No. 5 Auburn outscored Georgia Tech 31-22, No. 6 Southern California struggled past Oregon 16-7, No. 7 Notre Dame flattened Army 48-0 and No. 8 Texas A&M eased past Texas Christian 17-0.

In the Second Ten, 11th-rated Penn State rallied to beat Syracuse 30-14, No. 14 Florida turned back Florida State 24-14, No. 15 Arizona State whipped Utah 32-0, No. 16 Texas leveled Arkansas 38-7, No. 18 Maryland blanked Wake Forest 47-0, No. 19 Miami of Ohio belted Bowling Green 34-10 and No. 20 Tulane ripped The Citadel 30-3.

It was a weekend of comparisons, although no one has played both Ohio State and Oklahoma. Wisconsin, however, played Ohio State a week ago and was routed 52-7 while making it much closer Saturday against Michigan.

"They're both fine teams," said Coach John Jardine. "Ohio State was as fired up for us as anyone has ever been. Whether Michigan was fired up or not, I don't know."

Colorado has played Oklahoma and Michigan, losing to the latter 31-0 four weeks ago.

"Michigan is a fine team but Oklahoma is better," said Coach Bill Mallory. "If they want to play each other, it's all right with me."

Indiana's Lee Corso and Colorado's Mallory couldn't compare the 1-2 teams directly, but they had some thoughts, anyway.

"This is a national championship caliber team," Corso said after Ohio State's Archie Griffin romped for 146 yards and two touchdowns and became the top ground-gainer in Big Ten history.

It was Griffin's 16th consecutive 100-yard regular-season game, one short of the national record held by Oklahoma's Steve Owens. Griffin also passed the century mark in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, but that doesn't count in the NCAA record book.

Griffin's output boosted his career yardage to 3,321, surpassing the mark of 3,315 set by Purdue's Otis Armstrong a couple of years ago.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma's Joe Washington, a junior like Griffin, rambled for 200 yards and four touchdowns in just 18 carries against Colorado as the Sooners chewed up 594 yards of real estate on the ground.

"There can't be a better team than Oklahoma," said Mallory. "They were awesome. If there's a better back in the country than Washington, I haven't seen him. What moves and balance he's got! Their offense is fabulous. If they play like they played against us, I don't see anyone beating them."

Michigan's Dennis Franklin threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Greg DenBoer to snap a third-period tie against Wisconsin and the Wolverines also got scoring runs from Chuck Heater and Gordon Bell.

Willie Shelby ran 13 and 19 yards for Alabama touchdowns and set up one of Calvin Culliver's two scores with a 41-yard punt return.

Auburn's stingy defense was riddled for 22 points by Georgia Tech but still came up with the big plays. Chuck Jones, a freshman, blocked a punt and ran it 42 yards for a touchdown and recovered a fumble to set up another tally.

One of the 160 yards gained by Southern Cal's Anthony Davis produced a touchdown and Chris Limahelu tacked on three field goals enabling the sluggish Trojans to defeat Oregon.

Fullbacks Wayne Bullock and Russ Kornman split four touchdowns as Notre Dame whipped Army and David Walker completed seven of nine passes for a whopping 220 yards in the Texas Aggies' triumph over TCU. One of them was a screen to Ronnie Hubby, who galloped 60 yards to score.

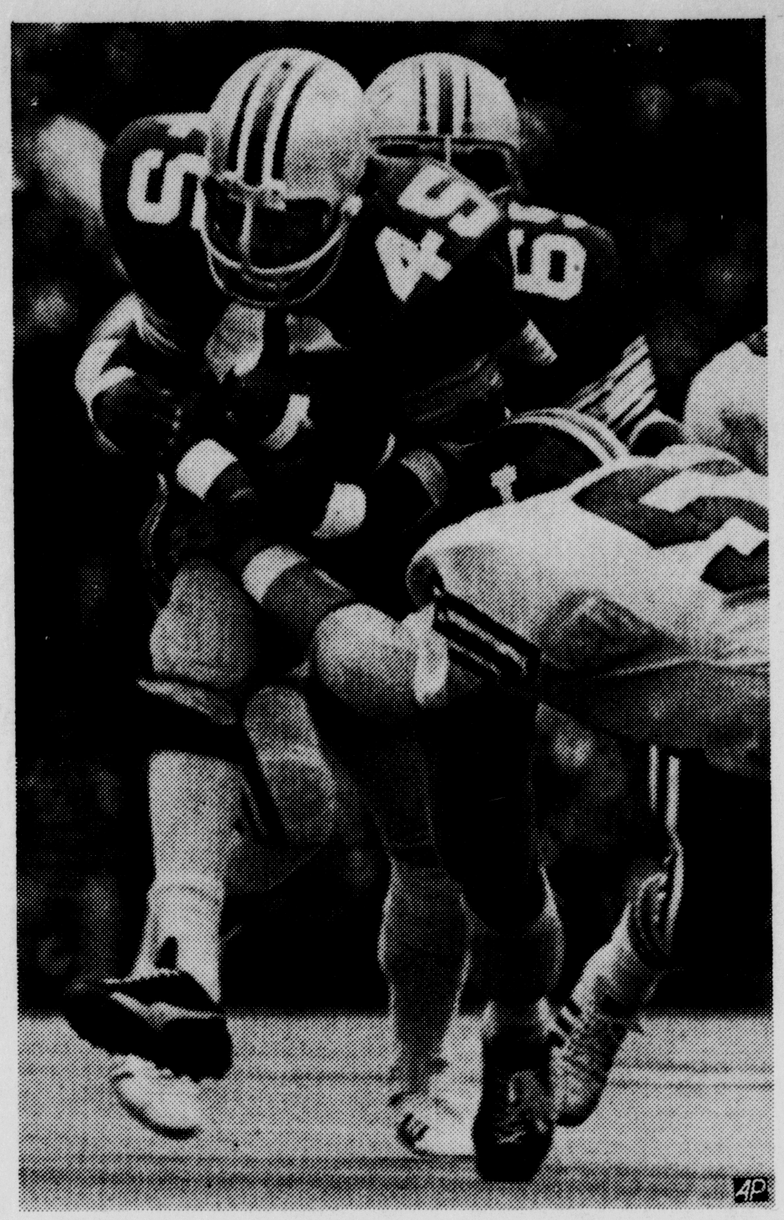
Texas Tech stifled Arizona's high-powered offense, holding the Wildcats to 273 yards, well below their average. Curtis Jordan and Randy Olson came through with key interceptions and the Red Raiders also recovered two Arizona bobbles.

North Carolina scored three times in the first period on runs of 36 yards by Mike Voight, three by Chris Kupec and 10 by Boom-Boom Betterson and in toppling N.C. State.

Penn State's Tom Shuman ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third against Syracuse; Nebraska's Dave Humm fairly sizzled with 23 completions in 27 tosses — including 15 in a row — for 230 yards and three scores against Kansas; Florida came from behind in the final period to down Florida State on a 63-yard touchdown pass from Don Gaffney to Alvis Darby and Tony Green's 12-yard run.

Arizona State freshman Dennis Sproul threw a pair of scoring passes as the Sun Devils trounced Utah; another rookie, Texas fullback Earl Campbell, gained 109 yards on just eight rushes, one of them a 68-yard touchdown gallop, in the Longhorns' rout of Arkansas; Bob Avellini passed for 157 yards and two touchdowns as Maryland stomped Wake Forest, which has lost its last four games by 196-0.

Ron Carpenter tallied twice as Miami of Ohio whipped Bowling Green and Steve Foley rushed for 142 yards, including a 47-yard touchdown, as Tulane sank The Citadel.



SETS RUSHING RECORD — Ohio State's Archie Griffin (45) became the greatest rusher in Big 10 history when he picked up 146 yards during the Ohio State Buckeyes' 49-9 victory over Indiana. Griffin, a junior tailback, has 3,321 yards which is six more than the previous Big 10 rushing leader, Otis Armstrong of Purdue, had.

Griffin sets mark in OSU win

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Woody Hayes is coming close to calling his top-ranked Ohio State football team his greatest ever.

"This team can do some things the others couldn't," he said after the Big Ten coleaders hammered visiting Indiana 49-9 Saturday.

Then is this squad better than his unbeaten powers of 1954 and 1968?

"Now, I'll tell you that in five games. But up to now, this is the most versatile I've ever had," Hayes added.

The Ohio State coach is delaying his assessment for five weeks. That's the regular season finale with third-ranked Michigan, almost certain to be for the conference championship again. The Buckeyes and Wolverines share the Big Ten lead with 3-0-0 records.

Once more the 6-0-0 Buckeyes showed off their varied attack, crushing the 1-5-0 Hoosiers with 333 yards rushing and another 235 through the air. Indiana mannaged 266 total yards.

"We really learned a lot," Indiana Coach Lee Corso said.

"They (Ohio State) play fair and honest. They've got class. This is a national championship caliber team. I haven't seen anyone better," he added.

"We're young and they're terrific," Corso said.

Hayes admitted an early bid by Archie Griffin to become the Big Ten's champion career rusher for all games was "loused" up by big plays by teammates.

"(Cornelius) Greene loused one play up," Hayes said. "He's only supposed to get a first down. So he runs 30 yards to the Indiana six. Then another time he calls a pass and throws a (53-yard) touchdown to (Dave) Hazel."

Hayes ordered his first offense into action one more time early in the fourth quarter.

"They went out on the field and Arch was going to run until he got the record," the Ohio State coach explained.

Griffin bagged the record on the first play. In all, he rushed for 146 yards and two touchdowns, running his career total to 3,321 yards, six more than Otis Armstrong of Purdue had in 1970-72.

Griffin and Greene combined for 446 total yards and figured in five touchdowns, forcing Corso to call them super athletes.

"What can you say about Griffin that hasn't already been said?" asked Corso.

The Indiana coach said of Greene, "He adds new dimension to their offense. He can get through holes that are not even diagrammed on the blackboard."

In other Ohio college football action, Miami extended its unbeaten string to 18 games and improved its Mid-American Conference record to 2-0 by whipping Bowling Green 34-10.

That set up a crucial conference clash next weekend between the Redskins and the Toledo Rockets, who share the top spot in the MAC standings with a 3-0 mark. Toledo and all the other MAC teams played outside the league Saturday.

Miami, despite an offensive lag in the second and third quarters, had little trouble in beating the Falcons. Quarterback Sherman Smith rushed for 109 yards and one touchdown as Miami jumped ahead 14-0, saw the lead dwindle to 14-10, and then scored 20 points in the final period.

Toledo lifted its overall record to 4-2 by rolling over Dayton 38-27. The Rockets took an early lead on quarterback Gene Swick's pass to Don Seymour in the end zone and touchdown runs by Swick of three and 18 yards.

Utah State edged Kent State 27-24 on Al Knapp's 42-yard field goal with 1:44 remaining to play.

Ohio University evened its season record at 3-3 by trouncing Morehead State, Ky., 49-10, as quarterback Rich Bevly ran for three touchdowns and passed for another.

Independent Cincinnati swamped Wichita State 43-0 after charging ahead early by turning three pass interceptions into touchdowns.

In Ohio Conference play, Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein remained deadlocked for the Red Division lead with 2-0 marks after victories Saturday.

B-W trounced Heidelberg 35-14 to give Coach Lee Tressel his 100th collegiate coaching triumph. Otterbein downed Muskingum 28-10 as fullback Steve Schnarr piled up 111 yards in 22 carries and scored two touchdowns.

A battle of Red Division cellar-dwellers saw Marietta (1-1) topping Wooster (0-2), 21-13.

Mount Union toppled Capital from first place in the OC Blue Division with a slim 9-7 triumph on Bob Wire's 22-yard field goal in the final period. The victory put Mount Union into a tie for the division lead with Ohio Wesleyan at 1-0. Capital dropped to a 1-0 mark.

Wittenberg and Denison battled to a 10-10 tie in another Blue Division contest. It was the first division game of the season for the Tigers. Denison remains winless in three league starts.

Hoosier-Buckeye Conference action saw leader Hanover, Ind., defeating Findlay 29-15 for its third straight league victory, while Defiance edged Bluffton 15-14 and Wilmington rolled over Manchester, Ind., 31-10.

John Carroll slipped by Case Western Reserve 13-6 in Presidents Conference play, while Hiram and Thiel, Pa., wound up knotted 21-21.

Elsewhere, it was Ashland 28, Fairmont State, W. Va., 7; Ohio Wesleyan 18, Washington University of St. Louis 7; Oberlin 19, Kenyon 17; Westminster, Pa., 21, Ohio Northern 17; Central State 45, Federal City, D.C., 19; Ball State, Ind. 21, Youngstown State 14.

Two shutouts complete Pony season

Needing a victory to tie for the championship of the Pony League, the Big Boys and Dividends each scored shutouts, Saturday evening. The Big Boys blanked the Jaycees 14-0 and the Marksmen were 19-0 victims of the Dividends.

With 10 seconds remaining in the first half, Steve Grooms tossed a 22-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Lower. The conversion came on a pass from Martin Leanerton to Grooms.

In the second half, Grooms scored on a one-yard plunge to seal the win. The Bigs Boys wound up the season with a 3-0-1, while the Jaycees had a season mark of 0-4.

Jon Jon Thomas and Brian Dodds accounted for all of the Dividends' scoring. Dodds opened the scoring with a 27-yard scoring reception from Thomas. Thomas later scored on runs of 13 and four yards. Dodds also tallied the extra point.

The dividends also finished the season with a 3-0-1 record. The Marksmen and the Interns, who had a bye, concluded the year with 1-2-1 marks and tied for third place.

Greenfield woman hurt in crash

A serious collision, in which a Greenfield woman was injured, resulted when Richard L. Bartuff, 23, Greenfield, bent over to pick a stick of chewing gum off the floorboard of the car he was driving at 5:15 p.m. Sunday, on Milledgeville-Octa Road, two-tenths of a mile west of the Ohio 729 intersection.

Bartuff went off the road and collided with a parked car owned by Della Ison, 6787 Milledgeville-Octa Road-NW, knocking it 30 feet through a board fence, also owned by Ms. Ison.

Bartuff showed visible signs of injury at the accident scene and his passenger Rita K. Bartuff, 22, Greenfield, claimed injury. She was later treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital for neck and head pain and then released. Bartuff was not treated.

Sheriff's deputies cited Bartuff for failure to drive on the right half of the road and the Ison auto was demolished in the mishaps and Bartuff's car was severely damaged.

Ms. Young was the only injury and she was treated for neck pain at Fayette Memorial Hospital and then released. Ms. Heikes was cited by police for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Jury being selected for Kent State trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Jury selection for the trial of eight former Ohio National Guard members accused of civil rights violations in the campus gunfire that killed four and wounded nine students four years ago begins today in U.S. District Court.

Court officials summoned 125 prospective jurors to appear this morning and said more would be called if the venire is exhausted before a jury is seated.

Chief Judge Frank J. Battisti, presiding over the Kent State trial, clamped the lid on pretrial speculation by ordering attorneys and principals not to discuss the case with reporters.

The trial could last several weeks.

Both government and defense have lists of 150 potential witnesses for each side. Attorneys indicated they did not expect to call all of them. One attorney estimated the total number of witnesses called to the stand would number about 100.

After nearly three months investigating the Kent State tragedy, a federal grand jury indicted the eight former guardsmen last March 29.

The indictment charged they violated the civil rights of the 13 students killed or wounded in a 13-second gunfire burst May 4, 1970, during a confrontation with demonstrators protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

The indictment named Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, and James D. McGee, 27, both of Ravenna, Ohio; William E. Perkins, 28, Canton, Ohio; James E. Pierce, 29, Amelia Island, Fla.; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua, Ohio; Barry W. Morris, 29, Kent, Ohio; Mathew J. McManus, 28, West Salem, Ohio, and Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City, Ohio.

These men were charged with willfully assaulting and intimidating demonstrators by firing weapons in their direction and violating their constitutional rights.

Convictions could bring a $1,000 fine and prison terms up to life.

The Ohio National Guard went into Kent State May 2, 1970, on order of former Gov. James A. Rhodes. The student antiwar demonstration had resulted in the burning of the Army Reserve Training Corps building on the state school's campus.
